No less than a foot of fluffy snow fell during the night. Winter will not let up. Donald and I again got out the snow shovels and went at it. After we were at it for a couple hours, Fran Pucin came to our rescue with the tractor that he bought from Dad this ^{past} summer. Without Fran & the snow plow, Donald and I would still be out shoveling - particularly out by the highway where it has been mountained up by the state plow. We (Donald & I) paid Fran $40 for the help. I am now exhausted from the heavy labor out in the freezing cold wind. Tomorrow is supposed to be very cold - not much ^{above} zero all day. By the weekend the weather should be more "normal" and possibly above freezing.

all is well up at the barn. The ⁸⁵²³ 2.
temperature in the main area is holding around 32°F most of the time. When the temperature outside is 20°F or above, the temperature inside the poultry area goes up to the mid-30°F. & above. Nasty cold winter nights with below zero temperatures cause the temperature to go down to the mid 20's inside the poultry area. I took off their nests, this morning, two Partridge Rock pullets and their chicks - about 9 all together, including three Standard Barred Rock chicks from the Campfield pullet and my best cockerel "8670". I now have 6 setting hens and their chicks up at the barn. all are doing beautifully.
I am rapidly running of places to put hen and chicks because of ^{25³} 25³ 24³ all the roosters in separate cages that I have wintered over. If I could get rid of about 10 of the roosters now in individual cages, it would be very easy to house the hen and chicks. No matter. I will make space as needed. Individual breeding pens are also much in demand up in the barn. One never has enough cages. I shall have to get another roll of heavy duty galvanized wire and make some more cages.

Maybe I can arrange a double tier of rooster cages along the back wall - but that will require a trip to the lumber yard.

Dear S ROBERT POWELL

We are very pleased to inform you that we're about to send you a new Citibank Photocard - in fact, a new kind of Citibank Photocard that offers even more protection against unauthorized use of your card.

Your new Photocard won't just have your picture on it, it will also have your signature digitally imprinted in the plastic. This makes it virtually impossible for anyone to remove your signature and replace it with their own in case your card is lost or stolen.

To imprint your name, we must have your signature as soon as possible. Please enter your signature on the form below and return it in the postage-paid envelope provided.

The digital signature ... just another example of the advanced protection you can expect from your Citibank Photocard, and it's yours at no additional charge.

Sincerely,

S. Larson

Dear NF+G—

Thanks for the feed delivery in the middle of a winter storm. I appreciate it very much.

You will be interested to know that the Reserve Grand Champion Chicken (a Partridge Plymouth Rock pullet) at the P.A. State Farm Show, January 8-13, 1994, only ate feed from Narrowsburg Feed & Grain. There were 1,600 birds in the show, and I am very pleased with the win.

Your high quality feed and service are much appreciated.

Sincerely,

S. Robert Powell

Dear Nancy,

How quickly the years come and go! It seems like it was only a couple months ago that the 1993 APA Yearbook deadline was here, and already it's time for 1994's deadline.

Enclosed is an article, entitled "American Legion Poultry Show," that you may want to include in the 1994 APA Yearbook.

I will again have an ad in the APA Yearbook and I will send along the ad and payment in a few weeks.

Sincerely,
Robert

The last 2½ weeks have been very difficult and full of stress because of the weather: there were two separate 3-day periods when the temperature range here was -30°F to about 5°F ; and in between and before several feet of snow fell. The snow-plowing jeep broke down twice and Donald and I hand shoveled out the driveway twice. It's a 4-hour job at the least. Classes were cancelled at Penn State at least three days, twice beginning at 3 PM & once all day (maybe more; I am confused by all the cancellations); and also three round trips to Harrisburg for the Farm Show and the driving conditions were horrible on 2 of those round trips. But, all is more or less back to normal at present. DWP II arrived for what was intended to be a weekend and, happily, because of the snow and frigid weather, was here about 10 days, which was grand. On two or three nights, he slept on the bed heo in his "old room" and had a grand time — it was — for him — like camping out. I slept on my usual bed in the large walk-in closet.

In the middle of all the bad weather, no less than four hens hatched ^{out broods} up in the barn. It required a bit of fussing on my part, but all in very well with all of the hens and their broods.

Among the chicks are some standard Banded Rocks from "8670" & the Campfield pullet; about 8 more Banded Rock eggs are due to hatch next Monday. Several more standard BB Red Modern Game also hatched, as did some experimentals: chicks from the White Wyandotte pullets and a R.C. Rhode Island Red cockerel. Some of the chicks look like RIR's and some look like ²⁵⁷⁶ 3.

they may be of the Columbian color pattern — Columbian Wyandottes, perhaps. I have always been very attracted to the Columbian color pattern and am hoping that's what these chicks are. It will make the growing up period very interesting to observe. Won't it be something to produce Columbian Wyandottes from white Wyandotte females and a Rose Comb Rhode Island Red male! I'd like to have the genetics of the mating explained to me if the result is in fact Columbian. I now have the remaining Norman Eerie partridge rock pullet with my "old male" and am anxiously awaiting eggs. Every day I arrange at least one successful copulation in the Partridge Rock breeding pen, so I am optimistic that ²⁵³⁷ 4. fertile eggs will eventually be laid. The male, I believe, is not quite two years old, so he should be producing lots of live sperm.

The diets of all of the birds in breeding pens are, of course, enriched and fortified for the production of strong embryos; lots of ^{animal} protein and cod liver oil, in addition to the usual laying pellets.
I shall always be grateful to Barney Volak for telling me about the virtues of cod liver oil in producing fertile eggs that will hatch.
I drizzle about half a cup over about a gallon of laying pellets in which is mixed about $\frac{1}{2}$ pound of raw hamburger. The birds, of course, love the raw hamburger, and gobble it up with gusto.
There were no frozen combs as a consequence of the frigid weather, which is wonderful. After two or three days of -25°F , the cold did build up, as one says, in the barn and the temperature in the main poultry area was in the low 20°F range, but it is not at all damp in the barn and, of course, there is no wind. Dampness and wind are very bad on poultry; they are virtually immune to dry coldness. Nothing, it seems, even phases the Flying Tippers and the Guinea Fowl. In a major burst of energy this morning—given the fact that the temperature outside is about 35°F —I cleaned out the Guinea Fowl coop and both pigeon lofts. I threw all the cleanings on the snow bank in front of the coops and I am sure that the wild ²⁵³⁹ 6.

2538 5.

Turkeys will find them soon.
I did see four very beautiful wild Turkeys up by the barn this noon and I have seen their tracks in the snow. They flew off silently and effortlessly in the direction of the Shust Woods.

I have produced and mailed 47
copies of my "elect Bart Palz" memo;
he will be very pleased to learn what I have done in support of his candidacy for V. P. of the American Poetry Association. I would love to see the control of the APA taken from the hands of the Minnesota / Wisconsin / Michigan crowd. They assume office and do nothing for the APA.

Dear Bart,

I mailed out 47 copies of the attached memo today.

As I was compiling my list, I was very surprised to learn that some of the poultry people I know are not members of the APA. What does the APA have to do to convince non-members to join?

Maybe the APA should place large ads in Poultry Press in which are listed reasons why everyone who is involved with exhibition poultry should be a member of the APA?

You'll be interested to know that I have been admitted to the APA apprentice program for a large and bantam chicken license.

Best regards,

Robert

RE: Upcoming APA election

As a reader of POULTRY PRESS and as a member of the APA, you know that the APA election of officers is coming up soon.

As you also know, BART PALS is running for the office of APA Vice President. A copy of his ad in the January 1994 issue of POULTRY PRESS (p. 11) is reproduced hereafter:

CANDIDATE FOR

A.P.A. Vice President

Bart Pals

I will LISTEN to the MEMBERSHIP
I will SERVE the MEMBERSHIP

I am going to vote for BART PALS, and I am sending this memo to you to encourage you to do likewise. I have know BART PALS for several years and I know that he is dedicated to strengthening the exhibition poultry fancy by encouraging new breeders and fanciers and exhibitors to get involved. At the same time, he is always actively at work promoting the fancy to young people who are, of course, the future of the hobby.

BART PALS is also one of the leading judges of poultry in America at the present time. He is highly respected from coast to coast. His seminars at shows at which he judges are well attended and are regarded by all as great successes. He promotes the hobby at every opportunity, as is clear from his numerous articles in POULTRY PRESS.

We need an active, committed, enlightened and enthusiastic Vice President for the AMERICAN POULTRY ASSOCIATION, and BART PALS is, in my opinion, the man for the job. He will listen to and serve the membership. I encourage you to vote for BART PALS in the upcoming APA election.

(Just for the record: I am sending this memo to about 40 poultry people that I know--or see a lot and feel that I know. The expenses involved have all been paid by me. S. R. Powell) about a dozen eggs due to hatch today and tomorrow under several hens — I believe that I will spread out the eggs under the 4 hens that are due to hatch now, even though two of them have proven to be less than completely reliable setters. I'll give them the benefit of the doubt. Naturally, a certain amount of shuffling about will be necessary to accomodate four more hens and chicks but I will find a place for them — this afternoon, probably. I will have a couple hours available this afternoon before I have to go to Wal-Mart to work — 4 PM → close. It's been so long since I have worked at Wal-Mart that I am practically out of the habit of doing so.

JANUARY 31, 1994

THERE WILL BE A MEETING OF THE HARFORD FAIR ASSOCIATION ON MONDAY EVENING, FEBRUARY 7, 1994, AT THE HARFORD LECTURE HALL BEGINNING AT 7:30 PM.

DID YOU KNOW THAT IN 1994 HARFORD FAIR WILL BE A SIX-DAY FAIR? WE'VE ADDED MONDAY TO OUR SCHEDULE AS A REGULAR PAY-AT-THE-GATE DAY! THIS WILL MEAN MANY CHANGES IN ALL AREAS OF THE FAIR.

OUR MEETING ON THE 7th WILL TOUCH ON MANY OF THESE CHANGES. IF YOU ARE A SUPERINTENDENT IN ONE OF OUR DEPARTMENTS, IT WILL BE ESPECIALLY IMPORTANT FOR YOU TO ATTEND AND TO BE READY WITH CHANGES IN BOTH CLASSES AND RULES FOR YOUR SPECIFIC DEPARTMENT. ALL CHANGES MUST BE IN BY THIS MEETING. IF YOU HAVE ANY CHANGES IN THE ENTRY DEADLINE FOR ITEMS TO BE BROUGHT TO THE FAIR, BE READY TO LET US KNOW WHAT THEY MAY BE.

MAYBE YOU WILL BE NEEDING ADDITIONAL RIBBONS, PLAQUES, OR AWARDS: DON'T WAIT TILL AUGUST TO REQUEST THEM. WE NEED TO KNOW NOW!

LIVESTOCK/POULTRY SUPERINTENDENTS: WE NEED TO HAVE NAMES, ADDRESSES, AND PHONE NUMBERS OF YOUR 1994 JUDGES.

ALSO, TO HELP US COVER THE COST OF PRINTING THE PREMIUM BOOK ($15,000.!), WILL YOU BRING IN ANY OF THE ADS YOU HAVE OBTAINED FOR US? WE WILL ALSO HAVE ADDITIONAL AD FORMS AVAILABLE THAT EVENING FOR THOSE OF YOU WHO MAY HAVE FORGOTTEN. WE GREATLY APPRECIATE ANYTHING YOU CAN DO FOR US IN THIS AREA.

HOPE TO SEE YOU ON THE 7th. AND T H A N K S !

Waiting for the feed truck: 1,000 pounds of poultry feed: 300 scratch grain, 100 medicated Chick starter, 100 medicated grower pellets; 500 laying pellets.

I'm not out of feed at present but I like to have a supply on hand in the event of horrible weather. Getting it up to the barn will be quite a chore and I will have to use my home-made sled / toboggan (sp?) and transport only two bags at a time. Spent the day cleaning and arranging in the poultry barn: four more hens with chicks had to be assigned space. I now have 10 hens with chicks — and that requires a lot of fussing (which I don't mind). The hen that hatched yesterday have, I believe, about a dozen chicks: five standard Banded Rocks (from 8670 & the Campfield pullet) and at least six standard B. B. Red Modern Games. Two of the hens (not the best of setters) each have been given one chick — so that they will be able to experience the "follow through" experience of the process of incubation. The other two hens each have 4 or 5 chicks. All is well, even though, as always, there are a couple that are not in perfect health: ^{of the 125+ adults & yearlings} which is par for the course in any flock of poultry. Very alarmingly, the remaining Ennis Partridge Rock pullet appeared un-well this morning. I immediately gave her a Triple Sulfa pill, a worm pill, and put some Vet-Rex down her throat; also put Gallimycin in her water. Tonight she seems much more like herself, although she is not completely herself. I am expecting everything to be normal in the morning. I must get some fertile eggs from her. She is an important component in my Partridge Rock breeding program. I have one egg from her in the cellar and I'm sure she will lay beautifully if she makes it through the initial stages of laying. Most pullets have no problems at all; every once in a while a pullet has egg laying problems. What would be very nice is for the weather to break, as it were. We are still in the throes of very cold (although not nasty / vicious) weather: temperature down to zero °F overnight; daytime highs in the low 20°F range.

One hundred and one copies of the February 1994 CPAC Newsletter are now in the mail:

48 to current members & to members from last year who have not yet renewed

53 to "prospective" members.

I made the copies of the 8-page newsletter at Penn State and at the Baptist Church, so the CPAC 256/ 4.

all it will take are 5 renewals/new members, and the $29.29 will be more than made up. Renewals/new members have been coming in at a regular pace, so I am encouraged.

It occurs to me that if I don't have a setter declare herself in the next couple of days that I will have to turn on the incubator. I have at least a dozen "Choice" eggs for setting now in holding in the cellar. None of them is over a week old but I must get them under incubation in a day or so to guarantee / insure that the embryos will hatch. As soon as the weather "breaks," I will start collecting Black Orpington eggs. all will be well if I can get just a couple chicks from one of the Texas Cockerels and one of my hens.

Dear Mr. Fett:

Enclosed is a U. S. Postal Money Order (49547040153) for $40.00.

Please send me 15 India Blue peafowl eggs.

Past experience with the U. S. Postal Service has taught me that if a box of hatching eggs is insured, the chances are good that the box will not arrive smashed and full of broken eggs. Accordingly, I would appreciate it if you insure the eggs for no less than $40 when you ship them to me. If there will be an extra charge for this service, I will be happy to pay it.

I will be happy to receive the eggs at any time, but would like to have an idea of when I should expect to receive the eggs.

I look forward to entering "the wacky world of peafowl."

Sincerely yours,

Having pondered the matter more than a little, I decided:

- (1) to order 15 rare breed Turkey poults from the Sand Hill Preservation Center in Iowa; did so on 2/1/94; Craig Russell gave me the source; $50 but not shipping.
- (2) to order 15 India Blue Peafowl eggs from The Iowa Peacock Farmers; did so today; $40 eggs + shipping

I have no idea when either shipment will be made, but I will be ready whenever they get here. Peafowl have been kept here at the Russell Homestead for generations; there were some here when Mom was a little girl; we had some in the ^{50's} 60's + 70's; and, of course, there was the stuffed male bird that stood for years above the front stairs, his tail hanging over the stairwell. I don't know why they couldn't be Kept in with my poultry in the winter.

In the summer months, of course, they will be free range, as will the Guinea Fowl. Turkeys are another matter. When we were kids, Dad raised and slaughtered several hundred white turkeys for Thanksgiving & Christmas. These turkeys that I have ordered are rare-breed/show birds. I have ordered an assortment (their Choice) of 15 and have requested some Black, Narragansett, and Bourbon Red. We shall see what arrives.

With 10 hens with chicks up in the barn, I am running out of possibilities for setters and I now have about 15 Choice eggs on hand in the cellar. As luck would have it, the speckled Jersey hen took to a nest tonight. She must have known that I turned on the incubator this morning just in case a setter did not come forward. I'll give her a couple of days to make sure that she's setting for sure, and then give her some eggs. In the meantime, I'll put all available eggs in the incubator tomorrow.

Happily, the Norman Esmir Partridge
Rock pullet seems to be completely herself today! What a relief. Now I wish she would start laying and get into a production mode.

She is an important bird in my Partridge Rock breeding program &
I don't want to lose her. I must get busy and get the Black Orpington and R. C. Rhode Island
Reds into breeding pen.

Dear Wayne,

Bantam orpingtons are very scarce in the East. I think your best bet would be to get some eggs from one of the breeders in the Midwest or West.

Enclosed is a copy of the 1993 United Orpington Club membership and breed list, with telephone numbers.

Enclosed, in addition, is a copy of the ^{January 1994 and} February 1994 Newsletter of the Central Pennsylvania Avian Club.

Sincerely,

Robert Powell

Dear Warren,

I have awarded a Special meet of the HOC to the Central Pennsylvania Avian Club at their show on May 1, 1994, in Bloomsburg, PA.

Enclosed is a copy of the details of the meet that I sent to the CPAC show secretary for the catalogue. I will arrange for the money to be put up by Orpington people that I know.

If there is anything incorrect or mis-leading in what I have sent to the show secretary, let me know and I'll have it corrected.

Sincerely,
Robert Powell

Working on behalf of Carbondale's Past, Present and Future

February 21, 1994

Dear Members and Friends:

The purpose of this letter is two-fold: (1) to thank the many faithful members of the Society who have already renewed their memberships for 1994; and (2) to encourage those who have not yet renewed to do so now. If you are not certain whether or not you have renewed your membership for 1994, here is the way to tell: a blank membership form is enclosed only if you have not yet renewed for 1994 or if you have never been a member of the Society. If a blank membership form is enclosed, fill it out and mail in your 1994 membership dues to the Society at the following address: Post Office Box 151, Carbondale, PA 18407.

1993 was a very good year for the Society. Certainly the most important development on the local history scene in the Lackawanna Valley in the entire history of the Lackawanna Valley was the creation of the LACKAWANNA HERITAGE VALLEY AUTHORITY in 1991. As you know, the plan for the Lackawanna Heritage Valley represents a new type of regional conservation and development initiative. It was created by a partnership among governments at all levels and the private sector.

From the very beginning, the Carbondale Historical Society was involved with the formulation of the "plan" for the Lackawanna Heritage Valley, and WE WILL PLAY A MAJOR ROLE IN THE IMPLEMENTATION AND SUCCESS OF THE PLAN IN THE UPPER LACKAWANNA VALLEY. If there was ever a time that the Society needs your support, it is now.

We continue to be open to the public on Wednesday afternoons. Rita Scott, Bob Price and John Buberniak are the core group that make Wednesday afternoons at the Historical Society a great success. If you have the time, stop at the Society on Wednesday afternoons and get involved.

We continue to meet on the second Monday evening of the month at 7:30 P.M. in 302 City Hall. Come to the meetings. They are always interesting.

Again, if there is a membership form enclosed, fill it out and become a member for 1994.

Sincerely yours,

S. Robert Powell

Dear Craig:

Enclosed is my ad for the CPAC page ad in the 1994 APA YEARBOOK. As you recall, I paid the $10 to you in cash at the CPAC meeting in Shamokin Dam in January.

I will telephone you on Thursday night(maybe Friday) of this week to find out the names of any last minute memberships to the CPAC for the full-page ad for the club that I am preparing. My plan is to put the ad in the mail on Saturday morning.

Dear Wally:

I will telephone you on Thursday night (maybe Friday) to find out the names of any last minute members to the CPAC.

I will mail the full-page CPAC club ad that I am preparing directly to Nancy Farmer in California. I will tell her that payment for the ad will be sent to her by you in a separate letter.

If I get the ad in the mail to her on Friday of this week (maybe Saturday morning), I'm sure that it will be received in time. If it is not received on February 28th, it will most probably be delivered on March 1st, which, I'm sure, will be OK.

I am very pleased that Dale Godwin and Elton Minnich have become members and that they have placed specials for the Spring Show.

MARCH 1994

Editor: S. ROBERT POWELL

CARBONDALE, PA 18407

FROM THE PRESIDENT

Dear Members and Friends:

The Spring Auction and Show are only two months away. The Show Superintendent, as you know, is Briget Kane. In recent weeks and months, she and Wally Casazza have put in a lot of hours of dedicated work to make sure that the Spring Show is well organized, enjoyable for all concerned, and memorable. The rest of us now have to do our part, and there is a lot to be done.

First of all, we need as many "meets" and "specials" for the show as possible. If you are a member of a breed club, contact the secretary of that club and request that a meet be held in conjunction with our show. There is still time to set up a meet, but you have got to move fast. Similarly, all of us should put up at least one special for the show. Fill out the form for putting up a special that is enclosed in this NEWSLETTER and mail it to Wally Casazza or Briget Kane.

Secondly, we need help in setting up for both the auction and the show. We will do so at the regular monthly club meeting on April 10th, beginning at 1:00 P.M.

Thirdly, we need donations of food and/or money to buy food to be sold at the club's food stand at the auction and show, and we need volunteers to help run the food stand.

Finally, we need you to be present at both the auction and show to do the thousand and one things that have to be done to guarantee success.

And then there is the clean up after both events! If all of us do our share, no one will be overworked, and we will all have a good time.

In the meantime, start now to prepare for exhibition those "champions" that you will show at Bloomsburg on May 1st.

Best Regards,

Craig

NAMES IN THE NEWS

A concerted effort is made by the Editor to include in this column all published references to the CPAC and to club members. If your name and your birds have been in the news, and we have not mentioned it here, please let us know, and we will include your news item in the next CPAC NEWSLETTER. Similarly, if you have show wins that you would like to see reported on in the NEWSLETTER, contact the Editor. All of the items mentioned in this column represent nice feathers in the hats of the persons involved. AT THE SAME TIME, THEY ARE VERY GOOD PUBLICITY FOR THE CENTRAL PENNSYLVANIA AVIAN CLUB!

The following items have come to the attention of the Editor:

1. CPAC ad for Spring Show, POULTRY PRESS: 1/94 (p. 8), 2/94 (p.8).

2. Article by Briget Kane, entitled "CENTRAL PENNSYLVANIA AVIAN CLUB 'WHAT'S BLOOMING IN BLOOMSBURG'", POULTRY PRESS, 2/94 (p. 1); article by Briget Kane on CPAC Spring Show, PP, 2/94 (p. 12).

3. Obituary of Bruno Bortner by Bob Delancey, PP, 2/94, p. 11.

4. Obituary of Bruno Bortner by Sam Brush, PP, 2/94 (pp. 6, 8).

6. Carl and Betty Harris were presented with a Rosebud by Bob Delancey, PP, 2/94 (p. 4).

7. Photograph of George Schroeder with Kim and Lloyd Faubel at the Garden State Poultry Fanciers' Show in Flemington, NJ, November 13-14, 1993, PP, 2/94 (p. 9). At the Garden State Show, Carl and Betty Harris had Champion AOCCL on a Dark Cornish hen and Reserve Champion English on a White Cornish Cock. In the article in PP (2/94, p. 9) on the Garden State Show, it states, erroneously, that Robert Powell served as a clerk at the show. That was the original plan, but it never materialized.

8. From the article in PP (2/94, p. 40) on the Sussex County Poultry Fanciers' Show, to be held April 23/24, we learn that club member George Schroeder will serve as a judge at that show.

9. In Sheila Pinder's column in PP (2/94, pp. 20-21), there is some very useful information on the standard Light Sussex. That information is a consequence--and a very positive one, to be sure--of Robert Powell's article on the Columbian variety in PP (6/93, p. 31), (8/93, p. 33) and of Bill Hamilton's "Letter to the Editor" in PP (11/93, p. 7), and of Robert Powell's reply to that letter in PP (1/94, p. 13).

DOMESTIC AND EXHIBITION TURKEYS

By Craig T. Russell

(previously published in THE SMALL FARMER'S JOURNAL)

I probably don't have to tell many people reading THE SMALL FARMER'S JOURNAL that the greatest changes in agriculture took place after the Second World War.

However, I suspect that many of us fail to realize the restrictions these changes have placed on farmers and would-be self-reliants.

Prior to the Second World War, the variety of livestock generally available and on a given farm was considerably more diverse than is usually the case today. This is nowhere more apparent than when poultry is considered. Formerly, poultry was the most diverse segment of livestock operations. Today, less than a dozen "improved" types are in general use in commercial agriculture. We might expect that these improved birds have greatly eased management and improved the product. This is not always the case. The problem is with the definition of improved.

Turkeys are a good example. I can't speak for the nation, but here in Pennsylvania, most general purpose farms, prior to World War II, had a few turkeys. Mostly these were standard Bronze; however, a good many Narragansett could be found also. And some individuals kept Blacks, Slates, Reds, Buffs, Whites, or even some of the rare, non-standard colors or hybrid flocks. The average flock consisted of one or two toms and three to six hens. Young turkeys were produced by their mothers or fostered under chicken hens. A few were produced in home use incubators or custom-hatched by local hatcheries. The end result was homegrown turkey dinners for the holidays and family gatherings, plus some extra birds for the fall and early winter markets. Some specialized turkey farms existed and most maintained their own flocks. The specialists used turkeys of all varieties, but Bronze predominated. White turkeys, mostly White Hollands, represented a larger percentage of the specialized commercial flocks than they did of home use or small farm flocks.

Starting in the 20's, genetic engineering was applied to the turkey. During the 40's, selection was accelerated. Production of stockier turkeys with compact, but heavier, carcasses was the primary goal. The birds produced were called broad breasted. They have made commercial turkey production an important agricultural industry. However, these superbirds are only fit for factory production. The broad breasted heavy build has been carried to the point where normal mating is hardly possible. Successful fertilization is rare and the female is often injured in the attempt. Artificial insemination or special treading saddles are required. This hinders small scale production. If the individual does attempt to breed his own broad breasted turkeys, he needs to artificially incubate the eggs or provide foster mothers. The breeding emphasis on meat production has produced hens that often lack the maternal instincts of their ancestors. Even when the broad breasted birds do set properly, their weight and ungainly movements soon break all or most of the eggs. These birds also have problems, perhaps not surprisingly, with their legs and digestive tracts that are not commonly found in older breeds. My experience is that they also tend to be more susceptible to blackhead and other diseases. This problem is handled with medicated feeds in commercial operations but leaves the do-it-yourselfer with a bird that won't do well in the backyard if expected to rustle part of its own living. In fact, one handbook on livestock for small farmers and do-it-yourselfers has a one-page chapter on turkeys that says "don't." Even books and articles that tell you how, outline programs of more stringent care and sanitation than would be the case with any other farm animal and suggests buying new poults each year.

Such programs may make fine sideline businesses or provide good meat for the table, but can provide nothing in the way of independence from the dominant culture. While we are part of that culture, I don't believe we should tie ourselves too tightly to its fate. Now, I'm not predicting the end of civilization and I'm not hoping for hard times; I'm more concerned with independence in good times and bad times than I am with a special strategy to get through the bad times. Old style turkeys can add to the self-reliance of diversified small farms or homesteading operations.

The turkey is one of the only domesticated animals of American origin to achieve widespread importance in agriculture. Despite rather widespread current interest in llamas and alpacas, the turkey's only real competitor is the muscovy duck, which has achieved greater geographical distribution, but is generally far less important economically.

When Europeans first reached the new world, the turkey had undoubtedly undergone a long period of domestication. This has been confirmed by archeological studies and the fact that early descriptions of domesticated turkeys do not conform to any wild race. Early records are not precise; most authorities place the first Spanish importations in the period 1498 to 1520. Whatever the exact date, turkeys were probably in Spain by 1518 and may have reached England by 1521. Twenty years after that, turkeys were widespread among common farmers. By 1570, turkey was part of the common Christmas fare, along with beef, mutton, veal, pork, goose, and capon. A nice bit of information to remember when someone accuses you of overeating during the holidays. It should be pointed out that the Spanish may not have made the first importations to Europe. St. Peter's Cathedral at Schlesing, Norway, has a frieze with 8 medallions depicting American turkeys, below a thirteenth century mural. Most authorities believe the frieze was painted at the same time as the mural, around 1280. If so, some domestic strains may have undergone a much longer period of European development than was previously believed.

The ancestry of the original domestic turkey is in doubt. Some writers have concluded, based on area of origin, the relatively small size of early domestic types and the frequent occurrence of spotted individuals among early dark varieties, that the ocellated turkey was the ancestor of the original domesticated race. Others, since the precontact distribution of domestic turkeys extended well into the range of the common turkey, suspect a mixed origin. Many, based mainly, I suspect, on the size and appearance of the modern domestic turkey, believe that the domestic turkey originally developed from the southern races of the common turkey. They conclude that except for some "native" turkeys in Central and South America and a small light colored Dutch breed, the ocellated turkey has played no role in the domesticated race. Since pure ocellated turkeys have no beard, we can safely rule them out as the sole ancestor of the modern domestic turkey.

Whatever the original source of the domestic turkey, northern races of the common turkey have played a major role in its development since the English settlement in North America.

While English colonists brought domesticated turkeys to America, from the beginning, these turkeys were crossed with local wild turkeys. The result of these crosses were soon being exported back to Europe. In fact, one account claims that turkeys were introduced to France in 1676 from Boston. Turkeys has almost certainly reached France prior to that importation. Some other recorded dates are 1518 and 1540 (take your pick), but in France they were controlled mostly by the royalty and great landowners--not the common man. This slowed the spread.

The term turkey probably deserves some explanation. Some writers have tried to show that these birds reached England first from Turkey, not Spain. While this is possible, the famous poultry writer of the late-nineteenth and early-twentieth centuries, Harrison Weir, concluded that when first imported into England "it was confounded with the guinea fowl, then often called turkey, and that as people became acquainted with the two birds, the term guinea clung to one and turkey to the other." However, if the first turkeys in Europe do predate the Spanish importations, the chances of Turkey being the source of the first British importation is increased for early Norse carried on considerable trade with that area.

While turkeys have been bred along various lines, they are primarily a meat animal.

When the American Poultry Association published its first standard in 1874, it recognized six varieties of turkeys: Bronze, Narragansett, White Holland, Black, Slate and Buff. In 1909, the Bourbon Red was recognized. The Beltsville Small White was added in 1951. The ornamental, but practical, Royal Palm was admitted to the standard in 1977. After the admission of the similar, but darker colored, Bourbon Red, the Buff turkey declined in popularity and was dropped from the standard. Today, growing interest may bring it back to the standard once again.

Let me deal with each of these varieties and the non-standard varieties that might be met with in the U.S. and Canada, in turn.

From the Editor:

The CPAC will have two full-page ads in the 1994 APA YEARBOOK. On the top of one of those pages will be the club's name and the names of the officers and directors for 1994. The remainder of that page will be taken up by a series of $10 ads from individuals who expressed an interest in having an individual ad on the club page.

The other full-page ad will have, at the top of the page, the club's name and the descriptive statement about the club that appears on the club's mailing envelope ("Established in 1974 to promote...") The remainder of the page will be a list of the names and addresses of those CPAC members who renewed their membership for 1994 by the end of February.

The deadline for club ads in the 1994 ABA YEARBOOK, as I understand it, has not yet passed. If you would like to place an individual ad on the CPAC's proposed full-page ad in the 1994 ABA YEARBOOK, contact Craig Russell as soon as possible. 2581

The Central Pennsylvania Avian Club is a busy club and we are on the move, and it is very important that we as a club be an integral part of documents as important as the APA and the ABA YEARBOOKS.

The next CPAC meeting will be at Wilma Smith's house in Hughesville (see article on page 5). Club meetings are always on the second Sunday of the month and this year, regrettably, the March CPAC meeting will take place on the same day as the Berks Poultry Fanciers' Association Show in Reading, March 13th, which means that several of us who always show at the Berks show will not be able to do so this year because we have a great deal to do to get ready for our own auction and show.

Do you know someone who would probably show some birds at our show if they were to receive a show catalogue in the mail? Do you know someone who would probably buy some birds at our auction if they were to receive an announcement of the auction? If so, send the names and addresses of those persons to our Show Superintendent: Briget Kane, Rt. 2, Box 241, Keyser, WV 26726. Telephone: 304-788-5555.

CAN YOU HELP?

Is it a good idea to worm your breeders while they are in the breeding pens and you are saving eggs for hatching?

What dietary and/or management practices do you recommend to get fertile eggs that will hatch?

CPAC MEETING, 02-13-1994

The February meeting took place at the Columbia Mall in Bloomsburg, beginning at 1:00 P.M. on 02-13-1994.

Wally Casazza reported that the CPAC's associate membership in the APA had been renewed for 1994 and that the APA would like to be included on the CPAC mailing list and receive the club NEWSLETTERS. S. Robert Powell said that he would add the APA to the mailing list.

WC reported that "things are coming together" for the Spring Show. Brigit Kane will mail out the show catalogues in early April. To date, the following meets have been arranged for the 05-01-94 Show: Dominique, Modern Game Bantam, Cochins, and Orpington. All members of breed clubs are encouraged to contact the secretary of their breed club and set up a meet for our club show in May. Specials are also coming in for the CPAC show, which is wonderful. Members and friends who have not yet placed a special for the show are encouraged to use the form that was enclosed with the February CPAC NEWSLETTER and place some specials for our show. THE MORE MEETS AND SPECIALS AT A CLUB SHOW, THE BETTER THE SHOW! Everyone in the CPAC should put up a special. The special doesn't have to be "big bucks." A couple dollars is a nice special. Take action NOW.

Craig Russell reported that Harold Strawser will again take charge of the food stand at the show. Here is another area where all of us in the CPAC must get involved. Donations (food or cash to buy food to sell) are not only welcomed, THEY ARE NECESSARY.

CR also reported that Mike Kell will run the pigeon show that will take place in conjunction with the poultry show.

Wally and Rose Casazza brought some of the new--AND VERY ATTRACTIVE--CPAC hats to the meeting. They are white with black lettering. All members present purchased one immediately. WC gave the following Treasurer's Report: checking account: $1562.27; petty cash: $124.31; recent large payment: $182 for insurance. WC also reported that to date there are 40 paid-up members in the CPAC. WC said that he would be happy to mail out hats to members ($5.00) and noted that there would be an extra charge of $2.00 for mailing envelope and postage.

It was noted with pleasure by all present that two articles by Brigit Kane about the Spring Show were published in the February 1994 POULTRY PRESS, one on page 1 and one on page 12. SRP remarked that the slogan "WHAT'S BLOOMING IN BLOOMSBURG" is a wonderful slogan and should be used on all CPAC materials relating to the show. It was also noted with pleasure that the club's display ad for the Spring Show was also published in the 2/94 PP and that the ad (p.8) was in a very good spot on the page for reader visibility.

The March meeting of the CPAC will take place on the second Sunday of the month, the 13th, at Wilma Smith's house in Hughesville. Her address is: 78 South Second Street; telephone 717-584-2611.

The April meeting of the club will take place at the Bloomsburg Fairgrounds on Sunday, April 10th at 1:00 P.M. At the April meeting we will set up for the show on May 1st, and everyone who can possibly attend will have to be there to help set up for the show. Many hands, as we all know, make light work.

Respectfully submitted,

S. Robert Powell

THE MARCH 1994 CPAC MEETING

Wilma Smith has graciously offered to host the March meeting at her house in Hughesville: 78 South Second Street, telephone 584-2611. From I-80, take the Hughesville exit to 405 and "Y" red light; bear left and follow 405 to second red light; turn right to next cross street (2nd Street); make right to 78 South 2nd Street. Coming in 442, bear right at "Y" and red light and follow above directions from "Y". Coming from 220 N. or S., come to first red light, turn left and go to next cross street (2nd St.) and turn right to 78 South Second Street on right. Coming in 118, come to street before red light and make left on Second Street.

FROM BOB RUGABER

Bob Rugaber (Tioga Oak, 492 North Duffy Road, Butler, PA 16001) sent the following note to the Editor on 01-14-94:

"Just back from the PA. State Farm Show where I served on the dairy cattle committee. I headed up poultry for about a dozen years so dropped by to see how my friend Herb Jordan was doing. Your B.B. Red Modern chl. caught my eye. A really nice bird!

Thanks for the CPAC NEWSLETTER. Very well done and I love the envelope. No one who hasn't done it knows all the work it takes to put out a club newsletter.

Bruno Bortner's death is a great loss to us all. He was a good friend and about the best all around poultry judge.

Keep warm.

YOUR HELP IS NEEDED

Each of us surely knows at least one person who raises exhibition poultry, pigeons, game or cage birds who is not now a member of the Central Pennsylvania Avian Club BUT WHO SHOULD BE. We need to know who those potential members of the CPAC are so that we can send them a sample copy of the club NEWSLETTER and a membership application. Send the names and addresses of potential members to the Editor and he will take it from there.

FROM RALPH BRITT

CPAC member Ralph Britt, Bob Rugaber, and Robert Powell are interested in exhibition poultry and Flying Tipler pigeons. On 02-14-94, Ralph wrote to the Editor as follows:

"Thank you for sending me a copy of the January 1994 CPAC NEWSLETTER. We need a good source of poultry information in PA, which the NEWSLETTER provides. This is well worth the price of club membership.

... I have known and worked with Herb Jordan for years in the Pennsylvania Game Breeders' Association. If there is anything I can do to promote the exhibitors' interests at Farm Show, just let me know.

My good friend Bob Rugaber brought me his best pair of Tippler breeders last month. He has their blood lines fairly well incorporated in his flock and decided to share them with me. How's that for friendship?....."

Editor's note: Bob Rugaber's generosity and good thinking in sharing his BEST breeders with Ralph Britt should serve as an example for all of us to follow. If we all sold only top quality birds (and never the culls), the quality of exhibition birds would be higher across the board. In the long run, everybody benefits: the seller, the buyer, and the exhibition poultry fancy as a whole.

Dear Bill,

Enclosed are an obituary and photo of Cecil Rose, who died on 2/22/94. Virtually all readers of Poetry Press in Pennsylvania, New York, and New Jersey will be interested to read their obituary.

I'm up to my elbow in chicks, and am having a wonderful time.

Obituary: CECIL E. ROSE

Cecil E. Rose, Montrose, PA, died on February 22, 1994, at the age of 94. He was born on April 27, 1899, and became one of the legendary figures in the history of exhibition poultry in northeastern Pennsylvania.

At the age of 11, Cecil got started with chickens when his maternal grandfather, Amos Green, arranged for Cecil to get a setting of Barred Rock eggs from E. B. Thompson. The eggs were hatched under a setting hen on the Green farm, and Cecil's life as a breeder and exhibitor of poultry was under way. In the same year, he showed his first birds at the annual fair of the Harford Agricultural Society, Susquehanna County, PA. In 1914, at the Montrose Fair, he won his first blue ribbon.

For the following eight decades, Cecil bred and exhibited dozens of breeds and varieties of birds at shows in Pennsylvania, New York, New Jersey, and throughout the North East. In recent years, Cecil and his wife, Mary, bred and exhibited the following breeds and varieties of standards: Buff, Partridge, Barred, Columbian, Silver-Penciled and White Plymouth Rocks; Single Comb and Rose Comb White and Light Brown Leghorns; Single Comb Buff and Dark Brown Leghorns; Single Comb and Rose Comb Black Minorcas; Black Jersey Giants; Single Comb and Rose Comb Rhode Island Reds; and Black Langshans.

In bantams, in recent years, Cecil and Mary Rose exhibited Silver and Golden Sebrights, Black and Blue Rosecombs, Rose Comb White Leghorns, Rhode Island Reds, Silver Penciled Plymouth Rocks, White Rocks, White Frizzles, and seven varieties of Old English Games.

Whatever the breed or variety that Cecil and Mary Rose showed, you could always pick out their birds in the show room, for two reasons: (1) they were very high quality birds, and (2) they were invariably in superb show condition.

Cecil is survived by his wife, Mary, and by his grandson, Douglas, and his family. Cecil and Mary Rose were married in 1937, and together they were in the dairy business for 40 years. Their successes in the dairy business are as impressive as their wins in the realm of exhibition poultry.

In the winter, Cecil and Mary Rose also made maple syrup. At one time they had as many as 4,200 taps and made 800 gallons of syrup in a single year. For 17 years, Cecil also drove a school bus, morning and night.

Cecil was an intrepid fox and coon hunter. In one year in the early 1940's, he got 184 foxes. In his late 80's, he continued to enjoy coon hunting. During the winter of 1987-1988, he got 66 coons; in the following winter, he went out five times and got 28 coons. In the summer of 1988, at the age of 89, he helped his grandson, Douglas, manage more than 20 bee yards, and together they produced 30 tons of honey.

In 1951, Cecil was elected to the Board of Directors of the Harford Agricultural Society, and served in that capacity for 31 years. For 14 years, he was President of the Board. Not surprisingly, he was also Superintendent of the Poultry Department at the Harford Fair for generations.

In 1989, when I interviewed Cecil and Mary Rose for the article that I wrote about them that was published in the April 1989 issue of POULTRY PRESS, I asked Cecil if he had any words of advice for someone just starting out in the breeding and showing of poultry. He replied: "First of all, make sure that you start with good birds. If you don't have good birds, you're wasting your time. Start with good birds. And second, one thing that you have to remember when you show chickens is that you should never get mad."

Cecil Rose was a man of virtually boundless energy, patience, and charm. To be in his presence was always interesting and it was always a pleasure. Speaking of the breeding and showing of poultry in general, Cecil remarked: "It's a good clean hobby and you get to meet some of the nicest people you'd ever want to meet." Cecil Rose was indeed that--one of the nicest people you'd ever want to meet. (S. Robert Powell)

FLYING TIPPLER ASSOCIATION OF AMERICA BULLETIN

S. Robert Powell, Secretary

RD #1, Box 40
Carbondale, PA 18407-9706

FROM THE SECRETARY

All membership dues for 1994 are now due: $10. Send your dues and band orders to the Treasurer: Walter Wiechec, 105 Clay Street, Buffalo, NY 14207.

This BULLETIN contains sixteen pages of very interesting Flying Tippler information, including a 4-page article by one of the masters of the sport, Stanley Ogozalek. At David Fuller's request, Stan wrote the article and David prepared the camera-ready copy that was used to produce the printed copies. At Stan's request, another master of the sport, Jack Prescott also wrote an article, entitled "A Brief History & Training Lesson on Flying Tipplers," and that article will be published in the next FTA BULLETIN.

A "President's Message" from Tim Kvidera and Jerry O'Rourke's Annual Report, as well as an article entitled "In Too Big a Hurry," by Bob Rugaber, among many other very interesting things to read, are also published in this issue of the BULLETIN. A "Get to Know..." form from Tom Toscano is on page 13; a useful chart on identifying hawks in flight, from Richard Kehrer, is on page 14. Lots of good reading, to be sure.

Don't miss out on the next FTA BULLETIN. RENEW YOUR MEMBERSHIP FOR 1994 NOW!

PROPOSED 1994 FTA FLY SCHEDULE

Pending final approval by the FTA's Board of Directors, here is the proposed fly schedule for 1994:

Spring Series: April 23/24; May 7/8; May 21/22.

Summer Series: June 4/5; June 18/19 (Long Day); July 2/3.

Fall Series: Sept. 17/18; Oct. 1/2; Oct. 15/16; Oct. 29/30 (Stock Fly).

WELCOME NEW MEMBERS

We are very pleased to welcome the following persons as members of North America's oldest and best Flying Tippler club, the FLYING TIPPLER ASSOCIATION OF AMERICA:

1. JAMES H. BOYD (c/o Woodstock Farm, Chesapeake City, MD 21915).

2. EUGENE CARLSON (247 Revilo Avenue, Shirley, NY 11967-1714).

3. LEE FAECKLING (12929 Huffman Road, Pormahts, OH 44130).

4. GARY F. JAMES (1907 East Sergeant Street, Philadelphia, PA 19125).

5. GEORGE E. JAMES (1925 East Sergeant Street, Philadelphia, PA 19125). George is the father of Gary.

6. JOHN J. KLEIS (R. R. 1, Box 256, Richfield Springs, NY 13439).

7. BILL SANDIFER (47 Collins Street, Keansburg, NJ 07734). Bill used to have pigeons and is now returning to the hobby.

8. MIKE (MAHMOUD) SHOKOUHI (21905 Fox-lain Road, Gaithersburg, MD 20879).

9. TOM TOSCANO (Post Office Box 398, Mongaup Valley, NY 12762). Tom is a retired railroad man and has been raising and flying pigeons for 50+ years. "...No matter how many times I have tried to fly other breeds of pigeons, I find the only enjoyment is Flying Tipplers..." Tom's telephone number is: 914-583-5735.

PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE

Hope that your birds have wintered over well. Up here in Minnesota the second week of February has seen some of our snow disappear. Still a lot of it here, but it is nice to have the thermometer reading on the plus side of zero for a while and even better to be above freezing. Put my Tipplers together and am looking forward to spring so that I can resettle some of the hold overs and hopefully make an old bird kit for the FTA competitions and get the youngsters ready for the summer flys. Flying competition dates will be listed elsewhere in this Bulletin.

I am sure that many of you are disappointed with the void in pigeon communication caused by the sporadic publication of the American Pigeon Journal, once the staple of most pigeon fancier's literary diets. There are two magazines that have come forward and are doing a very good job of filling the void - the Pigeon Debut and the Pigeon Fancier. Both are very good and I recommend either, or both. The Pigeon Debut is a little more "blue collar". It has color photos on both front and back covers, nice articles and black and white photos. Current subscription rate is $18.00 for U.S. and $32.00 in Canada. Address is P.O. Box 271026, Oklahoma City, OK 73137. The Pigeon Fancier extensively uses high quality color photos and supplements them with black and white to support well written articles. Its cost is $28.00 in the U.S. and $35.00 in Canada P.O. Box 694, Colton, CA 92324. Both magazines are doing a very good job of maintaining a prompt monthly mailing. Each have been in existence a little over one year.

It is that time again for you to renew your FTA membership and order your 1994 FTA bands, if you have not already done so. Send them to Walter Weichec and include a little message as to how things are going, what you are breeding from or the like. He will forward them to Robert Powell for inclusion in a forthcoming Bulletin to share with the rest of us. We all like to hear what is happening with the fellow members. There is no reason that you cannot send comments directly to Robert. I just suggest including them with your checks to Walter to make it easier on you and possibly therefore getting better response.

The FTA Executive Board is in the process of working on the 1995 fly season. We are reviewing the whole concept of how our fly season is structured and wanting to incorporate a "winter" series of some sort to accommodate out southern members. If you have comments please send them to me so I can share them with the Board. My target is to have the Board's recommendation ready to include in the general membership ballot that is due this upcoming winter to elect the next term officers.

Best wishes to all for a successful 1994, both in the loft as well as in the air, Tim.

LOSING IT! (Your Novice Status)²⁶⁰⁷

AN ARTICLE FOR THE BEGINNER, BY: STAN OGOZALEK

Stan Ogozalek in front of his Tippler loft.

In England, a novice loses his status when he has successfully flown a kit of Tipplers for at least ten hours in a sanctioned competition. But, for a new-comer to the sport, just how difficult is this to achieve? That depends. A new-comer must be determined to apply all of the necessary training information supplied to him by the experienced fancier. One who has flown his kit in competition. One who's already "lost it." In some cases, the information that is given may not be enough to give the novice his "jump-start" into the sport and so this article is intended for those fanciers who may be having some problems. Any new-comer deserves more than just bands and feathers for his money, he should also get encouragement and assistance along the way so that he might become an active participant in the contests.

Right from the get-go there are certain things that MUST BE DONE by the new-comer: 1. He must acquire the best stock possible otherwise he'll be just shoveling against the tide and become easily discouraged and end up quitting the game. 2. He should build kit boxes in which to properly house his kit of competition Tipplers. 3. He must acquire good droppers. Active droppers that will assist him in the settling of his Tipplers and in getting them to drop when the time is right. And, 4. He should buy proper training feed. Grains such as malt barley, Durham wheat and white milo. And seeds such as plain canary, rape, niger, flax, millet, rice or a good canary mix if the separate seeds cannot be obtained.

There are those fanciers out there that will tell you that some or maybe all of the things just mentioned aren't really necessary to fly a kit. However, the top fanciers that I've met wouldn't even consider training a kit without the use of droppers and the different grains and seeds listed.

All right then, we'll assume that you already have your stock and will be breeding and producing young birds or you may have bought enough young Tipplers to form a kit (after you've lost a few in settling). But, before one begins to settle his young Tipplers he should have settled his droppers to the loft and have enough of them on hand, say, about six. They should be mostly white if not white altogether and they must be active. Those that just stand there on the roof are useless. You need the flutter of the droppers to lure the young Tipplers back to the loft when settling and later to drop the kit either in training or at the end of a contest. These droppers should be accustomed to the grains that you feed to the Tipplers and they should be kept sharp (hungry). You'll want them to chase after the barley or the plain canary seed that you throw about the loft roof to help create the flutter that is necessary to "pull" that kit down to the loft. Use the feed sparingly as you wouldn't want them to fill up and become satisfied and useless as droppers. It's a good idea to keep a few in reserve should the others tire. That way you'll be able to toss them into the air where they'll be noticed by the kit flying above.

Now, while you are waiting for your tipplers to get old enough to train, you might start on building those group kit boxes. They can be three feet wide by two feet deep by eighteen inches high with a dowel front and door. The kit boxes should be in a section by themselves so that the Tipplers inside aren't distracted. The purpose of the kit box is enforced rest. You want the kit to use all of its energy flying in training and on the big day when you want them to go the whole day long. The size of the kit box mentioned will hold about eight young Tipplers and if you have more, a second box is the thing to have.

It's time now to settle those Tipplers. They should be removed from their nests at about 3 1/2 weeks and placed in the kit box. A dropper hen can stay with them and show them how to eat the barley and drink. Of course, they'll spend time each day in the aviary with other friendly droppers so they can view their surroundings. This should continue for at least a week. During this time they are fed barley and on the day prior to their first release, nothing but water. The droppers should be very hungry when the day arrives for the Tiplers initial release. One needs to have control of them so that they will flutter about when the youngsters strike up--and they will--for the first time. To activate the droppers, throw a FEW grains of barley and the droppers will scramble for the feed, then do the same to the opposite end, etc. With patience, a lot of it, begin with enough daylight to allow them to return should they drop away somewhere and become temporarily lost. When and if all or most have returned and are trapped in and returned to the group box, they should be fed at half the amount. This is because they'll be released the very next day and a full crop will give them the energy to fly. The only thing you want from the youngsters at this stage is for them to be released, fly about the loft--if they will--and then down and in. This can be done a few times each day, if possible. After a week's time, they should begin to kit together and fly up to a 1/2 hour or more.

When the youngsters are on the roof, the droppers (3-4) should be out there with them. Once the kit starts to fly and reaches the hour mark, then keep the droppers in a carrying crate or something similar and only release them one at a time when any or all of the kit shows serious signs of wanting to come to the loft roof. Those signs are spreading tails and looking from side to side and the feet will be down. At that time, the droppers can be released singly. They'll get to recognize the droppers as being the signal to drop, though the fancier must know what the kit will do. If the kit isn't ready to drop and the fancier releases a dropper or two, but the kit continues flying; trap the droppers and release them again when the signs are shown by the kit. Eventually, the fancier will recognize the right time for the droppers release and know what the kit is capable of on plain barley or barley and wheat, etc. When they're trustworthy to be left flying on their own, you can go about your business. Someone else can release the kit--if possible--with the fancier coming later to observe and release the droppers at the proper time. A good kit should respond to the dropper signal in, say, 15 minutes or so, some say 10 minutes. Wilf Lovatt, I've read, had them drop in 30 to 45 minutes! It's also important not to fly the young kit in training to exhaustion, but to throw out the droppers about a half hour before the time they are expected to drop. Only on the contest date would a fancier hold the droppers back so as to get the most time from the kit. When they start to spread their tails and begin looking seriously at the loft it's time to release the droppers. Otherwise the kit might defect to the nearest rooftop, telephone wire or whatever. They might well drop to the loft without the droppers and this must be avoided as it could spoil them. They should be dropped after each training fly to the droppers, that is, the droppers are thrown and the kit upon seeing them and being ready for them comes down to the loft top within say a half hour or less.

Care must be taken; that is, the fancier must be watchful of the kit. At times the odd bird or two will break away from the kit and either come down to the loft or drop away somewhere else. These individuals should be remembered and should they do so again, are to be put down. The kit must all go up and come down together, though one or two may continue for a while and then drop. That's acceptable, they might become the strongest of the kit. Those that have it in them to fly will do so while the others will come to the loft. If, with a kit of ten and all are kitting, but 4 or 5 come down when the droppers are released and the remainder continue to fly. Trap the early group and record their numbers and do the same for the others when they come down. If this happens again, then you now have two kits to train on alternate days. It can be a good comparison and experience, but of course, will take up some time. When the fancier feels confident of the kit, he may then go about his business or whatever. As Harry Hunt of Toronto would say "You don't have to stand there all day gaping at them!" With experience, the fancier will now just what his kit is capable of during training and be there to drop them when the time is right.

If a kit is just hanging around the loft area after release and not wanting to climb or rake, then of course, something is wrong. Possibly they're off their feed or too skinny and run-down. In this condition, it could become spoiled. Better to throw a few droppers out and get them down and in. Then try and learn the cause of their poor performance. An increase in the amount or quality of the feed may be needed. It could also be that more rest is required. If they're not skinny or run-down then they might need a dose of Epsom salts to liven them up somewhat. Another thing to consider is the weather they're flying in, hot and humid weather will drain the energy from them with the result being poor performance and shorter times. Remember, upon release, the kit should climb in height for a short time, and later settle down and begin raking, etc. When a kit is on barley only, they tend to fly lower and the duration of flight is shorter. An increase in the amount or a change of feed to include wheat and milo will give the kit a boost causing them to fly longer times and better style.

When they reach an hour and a half, they can be flown every other day and because of the rest, their time should increase to 2,

Stan's Gordon Hughes type Tipler kit that went 15 07

3 and 3 1/2 hours. Keep them at that level for a week, that's about 3 training flies of about 3 hours each. After that add a little wheat, and notice the flying time increase and the style improve. Give that pinch of additional seeds (discussed in detail later) the night before and notice the effect on the kit. Remember to always keep the first contest date in mind and adjust their schedule to it.

It's a good idea to handle the birds, though not often, as you wouldn't want to rub the bloom from them. But, you do want to see and feel their body weight while on the barley diet.

With Tipplers, you want to be looking "for them" and not just "at them." Meaning that they'll be flying "in style."

The fancier should note how the kit flies in different winds and weather conditions. They seem to fly better when the weather is cooler and dry than in hot humid conditions. The kits that I've flown have never done very well in hot humid weather, it just takes the fly out of them. I believe my best time in that type of weather was ten hours. I think that the smaller lighter birds would do better and they would be hens, more than likely. There are fanciers that can get their birds to fly in heat though I'm not one.

Malt barley is the grain to use when training your Tipplers. Don't worry if they don't eat it at first, they'll soon get used to it if there is nothing else for them to pick up! It should be used by itself up to the point when your kit reaches the two or three hour mark. At that time you would throw in a little wheat and later some milo. Once you have them going three hours or better you can increase the amount but remember that the barley must be fed first before the other grains. This increase (of the other grains and seeds) in their diet will result in an increase in flying time and so you must adjust their time of release accordingly. Release timing will be discussed later. Once they've eaten their ration of feed you should throw in a pinch of mixed canary seeds to get them accustomed to eating small seeds. You should keep your target date, usually the first contest date, in mind and adjust your training schedule so that the kit has an extra day to rest. For example, you could fly the kit every other day or you may want to put them on a schedule such as flying them on Saturday, Tuesday and Saturday again or Sunday-Wednesday-Sunday. So that extra day of rest I mentioned earlier will be built-in.

Birds in the kit box(es) should be fed at about the same time each evening. The kit should not be fed immediately after dropping as they would associate dropping with feeding time. The English fanciers measure their feed by the level teaspoon and each bird gets about 3 to 3 1/2 teaspoonfuls. Always feed the barley first. Ideally, they should be fed in a tray or hopper that is clean. It's not necessary to have the grit before them all the time, a modest amount once or twice per week providing that they finish it can be given.

All the seeds and grains you would give them prior to a contest must be readily recognized and eaten. While the kit has flown several times on barley alone the fancier might want to add a pinch or two of seeds per bird on the day prior to release at the usual feeding time and after they've had their normal ration of training feed (barley, wheat, milo). The effects of this will be noticed on the following day as they'll fly somewhat longer and higher. As they progress, the wheat and milo can be added. And, the fancier must adjust the release time as the flying increases due to the better diet. Water once a day, a good drink of it after they've eaten then remove it from the box.

I've spoken to fanciers that say they feed their tipplers barley. But, they seldom tell you how much and whether they supplement that diet with anything else. Maybe it's my own training habits, but my kits have never flown well on just barley. I can get the youngsters to fly on it up to say 3 hours, but must add wheat and, or milo to it to get more time. How many fanciers will tell you just how well their kits are flying on plain barley, nothing else? I would have to see this for myself.

It's a good thing to give them a test feed-up prior to the competition date, say about two weeks before. You should feed them according to the feed-up given and release them as early as possible in the morning. That way you get them used to an early release time. If they've been trained correctly up to this point they'll fly a long time for you. And, with any luck from the weather, such as a 10-15 MPH wind and cool temperatures, they should fly in grand style; raking about the area and climbing to a good height then lowering. With a test feed-up and fly, you'll be able to see what you may expect from the kit on contest day. If you've made a mistake, you'll have time to correct it and get them back on track. If the kit has been flying up to six hours in training for you, then they could have doubled this time during this test. You'll then want to get them back on the training feed after the fly and it's a good idea to give them some vitamins with electrolytes in the water at this time. Use the recommended dosages only. Then it's back to the regular training schedule until the next feed-up which is only two weeks away.

An excellent example of a feed-up is the following, submitted by Tom Dilks (of England) and published in the May 1980 issue of the now defunct Pigeon Review.

"Train them for six days on barley and a teaspoon of mixed canary seed--that is to get them used to seed. Seventh day, half wheat, half barley. Keep them in that day for rest. Wednesday, fly for four hours then start the build up.

Wednesday P.M. 1 teaspoon Linseed, 1 tsp. mixed Canary, 1 tsp. Wheat, 1 tsp. *Tares, 20 Peas, 1 Cod Liver Oil pill.

Thursday P.M. 2 tsp. mixed Canary, 1 tsp. white Dari, 1 tsp. Tares, 10 Peas and Tonic.

Friday P.M. 2 tsp. mixed 1/2 Canary, 1 tsp. Wheat, 1 tsp. white Dari and Tonic.

Saturday A.M. 2 tsp. mixed Canary, 1/2 tsp. Tares, 1 Cod Liver Oil pill and Tonic.

Saturday P.M. Mixed Canary, Wheat, white Dari, Niger and plain water.

My mixed Canary contains 3 oz. millet, 4 oz. black Rape, 4 oz. Niger, 6 oz. plain Canary and 3 oz. Hemp. And the tonic is 12 drops Brandy, 2 tsp. of Parrashes Chemical food and 6 drops of Tincture of Iron mixed to one pint of water." *Tares is a vetch or grass seed

The Tipplers should be fed close to dark and their release time should be as many hours as you think or know they will fly prior to dark and feeding time. If dark is 8 p.m. then they would be released at about 3 p.m. so that they would fly up to their feed-up time of about five hours. It's smart to allow them a little extra time just in case they're feeling good and want to continue flying and go over into dark. Should that happen, one thing not mentioned was the use of lights, something a fancier should have enough of. Halogen lamps are just the thing to illuminate the loft top. Both droppers and young Tipplers should be accustomed to trapping under the lights at dusk.

With Tipplers, there can be nothing more satisfying to the fancier than to see his kit up in the blue. There they are like three specks of pepper taking advantage of the wind. With Tipplers, you want to be looking "for them" and not just "at them." Meaning that they'll be flying "in style."

Additional things that should be done to get the Tipplers on track quick are: 1. General rules of health should be maintained, that is, worming, canker medicine, etc. 2. Feed and water in the evening, removing it afterwards and do not leave any food. 3. Darkness; some fanciers will darken the kit box on the last few days before the contest to ensure rest. Don't cut off the ventilation! 4. Fanciers have been known to have an identifying mark on the loft roof for the kit to recognize. It can be anything such as a cross or X or III and it can be painted with fluorescent paint. The same mark should be inside the loft in an area where it can be readily seen by the kit members. It will help in settling and for kit members returning at or near dark. 5. In hot weather, don't give too much rape or niger as they contain an acid; it would make them thirsty. And, 6. Feed-ups start with the larger grains first, that is, on the first or second day and then go to the lighter grains and seeds. Clear water on the last day. Be careful so as not to overfeed during the feed-up, as they might not care to eat on the last day. You don't want the kit to go out on an empty crop, but they shouldn't be overfed as they'll drop and vomit, especially in warmer months. On the final day of the feed-up, the kit should be fed about 8 hours prior to release. This amount of time can vary, some fanciers have been known to feed 3-4 hours before release, of course it would not be a heavy feed. Prior to release on contest day, put the lights on in the loft and offer a drink of water to the kit about one half hour before release time. They shouldn't need it, but they might want it. Look the kit over to see that all are ok, as some might not be up to it. It has happened that one of the kit birds has not taken to the feed-up, and so it is kept in and another substituted. One that's been fully trained, of course. After competition of a long fly, don't feed heavy. Something to fill their needs, but not the heavy grains. You might give a few peas on the following day to re-build their bodies, don't over do it. Then back to the training feed and their regular training schedule with the next contest in mind. Two weeks in between contests can be tough on the kit and the fancier. Good luck on "losing it" soon!

INFORMATION REQUESTED:

One of our members, Ray Slater of Chelmsford, MA., is trying to find the origin of a Tippler in his loft for which he cannot account. Ray stated that it was not a stray, but he does not know from where it came.

The bird in question is a Red Checker banded FTA87-759. Both Bela Kiss and I (only 3 MA. FTA members) checked our records and we cannot shed any light on this bird.

If any of our members can help us, please drop me a note and I will forward it on to Ray.

Thank you,

Nov. 19, 1993

On November 14th, I attended the OCEAN STATE 1993 30th ANNUAL WINTER CLASSIC All Variety Pigeon Show sponsored by the Little Rhody Pigeon Fanciers Association. The Show was held in conjunction with the Giant Runt Breeders Association and the American Show Racer Association. It was also the Ocean State Roller Club Annual Meet.

It was a two day Show with all Homers judged on Saturday and all fancy birds on Sunday. On Saturday, there were over 300 Show Homers entered and 50 Runts. On Sunday, there were over 200 fancy birds entered. It was a good sized Show.

My fellow MA. FTA members, Ray Slater came down from Chelmsford, and Bela Kiss came up from the Cape. We got together and talked Tipplers all day. NPA District 1 representative, Toni Patti, was there and I purchased a pretty Nun hen from him to use as a Dropper.

The Little Rhody Pigeon Fanciers Association was celebrating its 30th anniversary and complimentary commemorative coffee mugs were given to all exhibitors. They also gave me a 1st Place Blue Ribbon for best in class in flying category for a young Blue Checker hen.

It was a nice show run very capably by this Club and everyone seemed to enjoy themselves.

SUMMARY OF ANNUAL REPORT

In 1993 we showed an increase, however slight, over the previous years as follows:

Year	Fly Reports Requested	Amount	Flys Entered
1991	37	$56.00	24
1992	86	149.50	67
1993	101	158.00	68

We are certainly moving in the right direction, but, again, we would like to see more of our membership take an active part in our competitions.

We had some very fine flys in 1993, notably, Luka Kapac with an outstanding fly of 16:13. Hamid Ahmadi put together some great flys times of 15:22, 15:17 and 14:23. It was good to see our former Secretary, Stan Ogozalek, back in the swing of things with two good flys of 15:08 and 10:04. New member, Gary Hulst took the Aggregate Honor time and Hamid Ahmadi won the Aggregate Official time award. Not to be overlooked was a superior fly time of 17:07 turned in by Al Lukez in the Summer III Series. It is the second best time ever recorded in FTA flys, unfortunately, it was my very sad duty to disqualify this fly because Al flew old birds and it was a young bird contest. I felt very badly about this, but Al accepted it very gracefully. Certainly a shame.

There were 24 Diplomas awarded in 1993 as compared to 23 in 1992 and we added 3 names to the Top 20 Overall Fly Times in both Official and Honor Systems. We also added 22 names to the Top 20 in each Series both Official and Honor Systems.

I would like to thank all our members who participated in the contests and who contributed to the various functions of our Club. I would urge more of our members to get involved in the FTA and put your birds in competition. Think about 1994 and see what you can do to help your Club.

I would also like to thank my fellow members for all their help and support given to me this past year.

GET TO KNOW YOUR FELLOW MEMBERS

Name: Tom Toscano

Address: P. O. Box 398 Mongaup Valley, NY, 12762

Telephone: 914-583-5735

Name of Loft: HAPPY COOP

Tom sent in his Get to Know Form with a notation on the back stating that he is a retired railroad worker who lives in Manhattan 5 months of the year and the other 7 in Mongaup Valley which is 5 miles from Monticello. He has been up in the mountains for 3 years. Unable to keep his pigeons in Manhattan due to landlord problems. HE states that he has plenty of problems with Hawks and loses quite a few birds. He has 2 pairs of Turbits, 2 pairs of Homers, 46 Triplets, Canadian Tipplers and 1 pair of Helmets. Colors are Grizzles, Dun Grizzles, English markings, Yellow Canadian and Red Canadians.

Tom filled out his Form as follows:

1. Started in pigeons by cleaning coops and hanging around Pigeons flyers on old Tenement buildings in NYC, Bronx and Manhattan.
2. Loft is 8x10.
3. HE flies Canadian Highflyers, stock Tipplers. Chose this family of birds because they are good flyers and are a pleasure to watch.
4. Keeps 60 birds. Breeds from 10 pairs.
5. Flies birds every day in Summer. Does not fly in Winter. Hawks are a major problem. I stay close to the birds - if they keep bouncing off I put them in. (Lost 50 in one day.)
6. No kit boxes, flies for pleasure and breeding.
7. Does not use Droppers. Birds not trained to darkness.
8. His comments are to keep Loft clean as possible and dry. Plenty of fresh water and no wet food.
9. Suggestions for FTA: Just keep Bulletins interesting- Members' Lofts, pigeon coops- pictures of their birds.
10. No pictures at this time.
11. No birds for sale at this time. Hawks keep attacking birds.

FROM RICHARD R. KEHRER (7810 Mallard Way, Anderson, CA 96007. Phone: 916-547-4067). When Richard renewed his membership in the FTA and ordered bands, he enclosed the illustration, shown below, entitled "The Hunting Hawks of North America." He also enclosed the following note: "Sunday the 23 I flew my kit for 10:30 min. The interesting thing was the weather, rain in the morning and wind all day. You might call it a blow 20-30 m.p.h. with gusts at 40 up to 57 m.p.h. The birds came through in good shape. They raked all day. My Dad said they were blown away and had to fly back. I sure do like the Field crosses for bad weather flying. Something I have learned: if you don't fly your birds, you will never know what they can do."

FROM DALE E. PETERS

When Dale Peters (507-509 East Dowland Street, Ludington, MI 49431; telephone: 616-843-8017) paid his 1994 dues and ordered bands, he enclosed a note in which, in part, he reported: "Would like to get back into flying this year. I raise pure Macclesfields and they are such beautiful flyers!..."

FROM DON KIESER

When Don Kieser (221 S. Park Drive, Seymour, IN 47274; telephone: 812-522-2959) renewed his membership and ordered bands, he enclosed a note in which, in part, he reported; "...I enjoy the BULLETINS. I have cut down on my birds. Have about 150. I haven't been able to take care of all that I had. Had about 450. I still show at the National Young Bird Show and the Kentucky State Fair. Hope you all have a good fly season..."

FROM BOB RUGABER

On 12-20-1993, Bob Rugaber (Tioga Oak, 492 North Duffy Road, Butler, PA 16001) wrote to SRP and reported: "...I've had a very good season and flew 35 young birds all fall, with only one loss. My Dominant Opals, Bronze, and Andalusian flyers keep right up with the other colors now. In fact in culling I'll have to eliminate some really nice ones. My very best pair (1991) of breeders will be going to my good friend Ralph Britt in January when I go the PA State Farm Show. I'll no doubt breed from 10 to 12 pairs in 1994 and fly everything. I enjoy my Tiplers so much on a day to day basis. For years I ran Homers down the road for training and I don't miss all of that work..." Bob also enclosed the article entitled "In 'oo Big a Hurry" that is given below.

IN TOO BIG A HURRY
By Bob Rugaber

In going over my year-end Tippler records, I discovered that a mid-summer decision that seemed so right at the time may not have been.

I bred from 11 pairs of birds in 1993 and raised about 50 youngsters. Most of these were settled and flown all summer in two kits averaging 15 to 20 birds each. In September, I gave seven to Sia Malenafri of Clifton, VA.

At the beginning of November, I still had 25 flyers in the air when I decided to confine them to the loft and let them complete their moult. During the week between Christmas and New Year's, I sorted these youngsters by sex, evaluated their quality, and checked their parentage.

Only two pair of breeders had three youngsters make it through the final cut, and three pairs produced two potential keepers. The other six pair of breeders contributed no more than one young bird each to the final pool of carry overs.

Now to my mistake. During the breeding season, I lost very few young birds in the nest or through the weaning process. I took note, however, that one pair (#11) had three squeakers die in the nest. So I made the decision to eliminate both the cock and hen at the time that the breeders were separated. Much to my surprise, the three young birds they didn't lose all flew the entire season, made the final quality cut, and are among my most beautiful of the 93 season. All three are Dominant Opal, expressed in different patterns.

I guess one could argue that they were removed for a good cause but I sure wish I could give pair #11 another chance to prove themselves in 94!

FROM RALPH BRITT

When Ralph Britt (95 South Blue Ribbon Avenue, Harrisburg, PA 17112) renewed his membership for 1994 and ordered bands, he enclosed the following note to Walter Wiehchec: "...Sorry I didn't know some of you were at the Grand National in Lancaster. I spent Saturday AM looking over the birds, mostly in the building with the Tiplers. This morning, 12-09-1993, I thought I could take a chance on the hawks and liberate some birds. About that time I heard the Brassy Back Old English Game bantams sounding the alarm. I looked around and there sat a Cooper's Hawk on the fly pen, not over 50 feet away. Better stick with my schedule from last year and keep the Tiplers in until April 1st. By then the Cooper's hawks have gone north..."

On 12-14-1994, Ralph sent a note to SRP in which he reported, in part, the following: "...My good friend Bob Rugaber brought me his best pair of Tippler breeders last month. He has their blood lines fairly well incorporated in his flock and decided to share them with me. How's that for friendship?..."

Note from SRP: Bob Rugaber's clear thinking and generosity should serve as a model for all of us. Share your best birds with others. In the long run, everyone benefits: the person who shares the best, the person who has the best made available to him, the hobby as a whole.

WANTED

FTA member Chris Richardson (telephone: 410-875-0732) wants to buy pairs or young Tiplers (Lovatts or crosses).

2613

CAN ANYONE HELP?

FTA member Herb Keay has apparently moved and has not informed the FTA of his new address. His copy of the 12-26-93 BULLETIN was returned to SRP, marked "not here." His former address: 15 Wingrove Hill, Islington, Ontario, CANADA M9B-2C6. Does anyone have Herb Keay's new address?

THANK YOU

Your kind words of appreciation are much appreciated.

From Hamid Ahmadi: "... I personally appreciate your (Walter Wiechec) hard work for the club and I hope others do realize the effort you and the others are putting in to keep the club and the tippler fancy alive..."

From Ed Young: "... Thank you (Walter Wiechec, S. Robert Powell) for your service to the FTA..." Ed's phone number is: 215-884-3371.

From Richard Kehrer: "... The FTA is looking good and Jerry O'Rourke is really doing good as Central Timer..." Richard also added: "...I wish there was winter flying in the FTA. Dec. 3 my birds flew 10:31 and I will fly them all winter. I put my birds up at 12 noon today and I put up my droppers at 4:30 P.M. and turned on the lights. The birds wouldn't come in, with a west wind. They were flying to the lights so I had to turn off the lights at 5:07 P.M. They came in. It was really dark by then and it was raining from 4:00 P.M. on. I got a little wet. Boy do I like flying tipplers! "

WANTED

Richard A. Mayers (Andrews Plantation, St. Joseph, Barbados, West Indies) would like to buy some Lovatts. He currently has some, but needs new blood. Birds of any color are OK. He initially contacted Walter Wiechec, who does not have any Lovatts. Can anyone help Richard Mayers?

FROM STAN OGOZALEK

"... I've just mated 8 pairs of the Gordon Hughes type of Tipplers, most of which have flown well for me in the past. I'm hoping to fly a kit of young Tipplers this year as well as the old birds. We'll see what they do for me..."

FROM TIM KVIDERA

"... Put my Tipplers together last weekend (Feb. 12/13). About half of them are to the point of knowing to whom they are to be mated and where their nest boxes are located. Should have some down on eggs in a week or so. Am going with nine pairs of my family which include a couple pair each of almonds and andalusians which go back to birds from Murray Gaskins. Also am breeding from my typical four pair of Hughes and three pair of Carneus. There are also two pair of dominant opals that also go back to birds from Murray. Have kept four or five cocks over that will hopefully become an old bird kit if I can settle and not spoil them..."

FROM GORDON HAMILTON

"... Have not had had birds out since September as a hawk had taken three including the old hen from Rotschi. She turned out to be a good flyer, though prone to wander off and fly on her own at times. I also flew three sons off her along with a Bart cock (hawk took him too) over 15 hours this year.... Even with the mask, my allergies bother me if I spend much time in the coop, so I can not spend as much time with the birds as I would like."

(In a note to Walter Wiechec, December 29, 1993)

ELECTION OF FTA OFFICERS AND DIRECTORS

Now is the time to start thinking about possible nominees for all FTA officers and directors for 1995-1996. Ballots will be mailed out with the the BULLETIN that is mailed out at the end of 1994. If you are interested in serving, don't be afraid to speak up.

March 10, 1994

Dear Mary,

I was sorry to learn of Cecil's death. I don't see the Montrose paper regularly, so I didn't learn of Cecil's death until a week later, when Natalie Tyler phoned me about an item in the 1994 Harford Fair premium book. As soon as I had finished talking with Natalie, I phoned George Schroeder, who already knew, because Bob Simons phoned him right after Cecil died. Certainly I would have been there if I had known in time.

I did send a notice to POULTRY PRESS about Cecil's death, so his many poultry friends and acquaintances out of the area will know.

There is still 3 1/2 feet of snow all over my flower garden, but I suppose it will go fast once it starts going. All this snow cover should be good for the perennials. Last summer, my iris were beautiful. Thanks to you I have about twenty different colors of iris now. My lilies and roses and hollyhocks were very nice last Summer, but for some reason my phlox were not at all nice. Maybe I fuss too much with my phlox. People who don't do a thing for their phlox for years on end sometimes have very beautiful phlox. Maybe I'll try that approach this year.

*With deep sympathy

I'll be up this Summer to see your iris and lilies and other flowers.

Sincerely,

Robert Powell

March 11, 1994

Dear Bart:

Congratulations on your election victory! This is wonderful news for all of us in the A.P.A. and for the A.P.A. itself.

At long last, it appears as though Spring may come. The other day as I was carrying a couple of pails of water up to the barn, I sank through the crust of the snow and I went in up to my waist. The two water pails were up under my arm pits and I was temporarily immobilized. When I got to the barn, there was lots of cackling and crowing going on and all was well so I forgot about the snow and ice.

Whenever possible, I use setting hens to hatch and raise chicks. At the moment I have twelve hens with chicks. Most of the setters are standard Partridge Rocks and Modern Games. Most of the chicks are standard Modern Games, Barred Rocks, Rose Comb Rhode Island Reds, and some breeding "experiments." Fertility has been very good and so has hatchability.

I am now focusing on getting fertile eggs from my Golden Campines, Partridge Rocks and Black Orpingtons. A few years ago, I have very nice standard Partridge Rocks and then suddenly I had birds that were OK but not great, which suggests that I must have made a couple of bad decisions on matings. I think I am back on track now. A pullet that I raised last year reached her full maturity in early January at the time of the PA State Farm Show (PA's equivalent of the state fair, but held in January), and was chosen Reserve Champion Standard of the Show, which pleased me a great deal because there were a couple thousand birds in the show. My standard Black Orpingtons are making me nervous. I have a breeding pen with three year-old hens and three two-year old hens and two cockerels. They are laying well but to date there have been no fertile eggs. Experience has taught me that I should just be patient and suddenly most of the eggs will be fertile and all will be well. But in the meantime, however, they are, as I say, making me nervous.

Again, congratulations on your successful bid to become the Vice President of the A.P.A. This is good news.

Sincerely,

Robert

P.S. It occurs to me that the Vice President of the A.P.A. should be kept aware of what is going on with poultry everywhere in America, so I have enclosed a couple recent CPAC NEWSLETTERS and will add your name to the mailing list.

Robert;

That's quite a newsletter you put out. I'm impressed, many clubs are not so fortunate. I found the article about the American Region Poultry show very interesting.

It sounds like you have alot of participation from other members of the CPAC. The CPAC seems to be moving forward.

If you feel it to be appropriate, I would appreciate it if you would convey the message to your members that I truly want to open up communication within the A.P.A. I would appreciate any suggestions, comments, and opinions that the members of the CPAC have. I want the members of the CPAC, as well as all A.P.A. members, to feel free to contact me anytime.

Thank You, I appreciate it.

Yours,
Bart

DEATHS and FUNERALS

CECIL E. ROSE, Montrose, Pennsylvania, died on February 22, 1994, at the age of 94. He was born on April 27, 1889, and became one of the legendary figures in the history of exhibition poultry in northeastern Pennsylvania.

At the age of 11, Cecil got started with chickens when his maternal grandfather, Amos Green, arranged for Cecil to get a setting of Barred Rock eggs from E.B. Thompson. The eggs were hatched under a setting hen on the Green farm, and Cecil's life as a breeder and exhibitor of poultry was under way. In the same year, he showed his first birds at the annual fair of the Harford Agricultural Society, Susquehanna County, Pennsylvania. In 1914, at the Montrose Fair, he won his first blue ribbon.

For the following eight decades, Cecil bred and exhibited dozens of breeds and varieties of birds at shows in Pennsylvania, New York, New Jersey, and throughout the North East. In recent years, Cecil and his wife, Mary, bred and exhibited the following breeds and varieties of standards: Buff, Partridge, Barred, Columbian, Silver-Penciled and White Plymouth Rocks; Single Comb and Rose Comb White and Light Brown Leghorns; Single Comb Buff and Dark Brown Leghorns; Single Comb and Rose Comb Black Minorcas; Black Jersey Giants; Single Comb and Rose Comb Rhode Island Reds; and Black Langshans.

In bantams, in recent years, Cecil and Mary Rose exhibited Silver and Golden Sebrights, Black and Blue Rosecombs, Rose Comb White Leghorns, Rhode Island Reds, Silver Penciled Plymouth Rocks, White Rocks, White Frizzles, and seven varieties of Old English Games.

Whatever the breed or variety that Cecil and Mary Rose showed, you could always pick out their birds in the show room, for two reasons: (1) they were very high quality birds, and (2) they were invariably in superb show condition.

Cecil is survived by his wife, Mary, and by his grandson, Douglas, and his family. Cecil and Mary Rose were married in 1937, and together they were in the dairy business for 40 years. Their successes in the dairy business are as impressive as their wins in the realm of exhibition poultry.

In the winter, Cecil and Mary Rose also made maple syrup. At one time they had as many as 4,200 taps and made 800 gallons of syrup in a single year. For 17 years, Cecil also drove a school bus, morning and night.

Cecil was an intrepid fox and coon hunter. In one year in the early 1940's, he got 184 foxes. In his late 80's, he continued to enjoy coon hunting. During the winter of 1987-1988, he got 66 coons; in the following winter, he went out five times and got 28 coons. In the summer of 1988, at the age of 89, he helped his grandson, Douglas, manage more than 20 bee yards, and together they produced 30 tons of honey.

In 1951, Cecil was elected to the Board of Directors of the Harford Agricultural Society, and served in that capacity for 31 years. For 14 years, he was President of the Board. Not surprisingly, he was also Superintendent of the Poultry Department at the Harford Fair for generations.

In 1989, when I interviewed Cecil and Mary Rose for the article that I wrote about them that was published in the April 1989 issue of POULTRY PRESS, I asked Cecil if he had any words of advice for someone just starting out in the breeding and showing of poultry. He replied: "First of all, make sure that you start with good birds. If you don't have good birds, you're wasting your time. Start with good birds. And second, one thing that you have to remember when you show chickens is that you should never get mad."

Cecil Rose was a man of virtually boundless energy, patience, and charm. To be in his presence was always interesting and it was always a pleasure. Speaking of the breeding and showing of poultry in general, Cecil remarked: "It's a good clean hobby and you get to meet some of the nicest people you'd ever want to meet." Cecil Rose was indeed that—one of the nicest people you'd ever want to meet. (S. Robert Powell)

THE UNITED ORPINGTON CLUB

By Warren Tye,
Secretary/Treasurer

I just came back from our Utah Fancy Poultry Show. They hosted the State Meet for the United Orpington Club. Frank Takahashi won Champion Standard Orpington with a good Buff Pullet. It went on to be Champion English. I lucked out and won Champion Orpington Bantam with a Buff Pullet, it went on to be Reserve SCCL.

Ken Lawniczak our State Representative for Wisconsin writes to tell me that he has awarded the UOC State Meet for Wisconsin to Manitowoc Poultry Club. It will be on June 6, 1994.

S. Robert Powell our State Representative for Pennsylvania has awarded a Special Meet to the Central Pennsylvania Avian Club. It will be on May 1, 1994. I hope all you Orpington folks in these areas will support these Clubs.

It seems we just get through with on National Meet and it is time to start planning for the next one. I received a letter from Mike Stichler a few days after I got home from Roseville to tell me their club was going to host the APA National Meet for 1994 on November 12 and 13. I haven't talked to anyone about it yet but I am sure we will be there with our National Meet. I have to remember to get in touch with Mike. Two years ago he wrote me a letter because I put it in the Press twice and didn't have any correspondence with him.

We are still getting new members and a lot of requests for meets. I try and forward the requests to our District and State Folks so they can handle it.

Send articles for the News letter to Warren Tye, 982 West 4800, South Murray, Utah. Please see our ad in the Classifieds for information to join our club.

FROM THE SECRETARY

I just shut off my incubator. I will start it again in a month or so. I have hatched over 140 chicks and culled at least 40 of them. I didn't keep any of the splash white or blacks from the blue matings. I used a dark blue male in the blue pen and the older chicks seem to have better lacing than last years hatch.

I made so many mistakes on the membership and breed list that I should do it over, but it takes too much space so I will just have a list of corrections in another part of this issue.

We have some good news and some bad news as far as membership is concerned. The good news is we have 15 new members since the January ALL-ORP was published. The bad news is we have 28 members that have let their dues lapse. Some of them are our officers, district directors and state representatives. The club can not continue if the dues are not paid.

We had a good time at The National in Roseville. I didn't win any thing but BB in the Orp Bantams and Res Orp over all. John Monaco had a White Hen that won Best Orp, Champ English and Res Large Fowl. She looked just like the picture in the Standard and she would show every time some one came around her. I felt good to have my Buff Pullet being considered for SOCL. It got down to a White Leghorn Pullet, a Black Tailed White Jap, my Buff Orp Pullet, and a White Rock Ckl. The Leghorn was best the Jap reserve, and the Orp and Rock left out. To have an Orp Bantam even considered in a class of over 400 at a national meet was a step forward.

I have heard rumors that the Postal Service is going to put more pressure on to have folks start using their 9 digit zip codes. For those of you that know what yours is, it may save us a problem if we started using them.

The APA has awarded their National Meet for 1994 to Columbus Ohio on Nov 12 & 13. I haven't talked to any one about it but I am reasonably sure that our UOC national will be held in conjunction with this show. The last time we had our national at Columbus we had an exceptional turn out of over 70 Standard Orps. The turn out for Bantams was rather sparse. I would challenge you folks to hatch some birds especially for this show and lets see if we can exceed the numbers and quality of the 1993 show. It will be a tough accomplishment but it can be done.

Dear Warren,

Jan 6, 1994

Enclosed is $5.00 for my 1994 dues. My breeding problem goes up and down. Last year my hens weren't laying. got my first chicks June 15, 1993. Four of my pullets are laying real good. I had two cock birds, one went down on his legs and I had to destroy him. The other is old and shaky with no fertility. It looks like I will wait until my cockerels mature. I am getting a real life experience in being patient.

Will not be able to attend the APA National, I have to work. I would like to attend but will have to wait the reports on the show.

Keep up the good work, best with your Orps. I'll see you at the shows.
Tom Durgin

Dear Warren,

January 8, 1994

We received our first copy of the Orpington News Letter yesterday. We really enjoyed it. It was a treat for Rachel to read her name mentioning her Cal National win. It was fun to be up there with all those well known breeders.

I am now the secretary of the Japanese Bantam Breeders Assn. I would like with your permission, to use the incubation article by Everette Bird that you ran in the January issue.

Why don't you give Rachel 2 yrs membership and keep the rest. One dollar a year doesn't even cover the cost of mailing the News Letter.

See you at Roseville.

Pat Rubin

Dear Warren,

Feb 26, 1994

Enclosed are my dues. Sorry to be late but this goes along with my disorientation from working the third shift. No chicks as yet, it's been so cold that I am not getting enough eggs to make a setting worth while. I hatched chicks late in 93 that I can show a pullets and cockerels in the early shows. So I am in no hurry any way. Take care, Ken

Wisconsin State Meet

By Ken Lawniczak

The Wisconsin State Meet of the United Orpington Club will be hosted by the Manitowoc Poultry Club this year. Their show is the Northeastern Wisconsin Poultry Show. It will be Sat. June 11, 1994 at the Manitowoc County Expo Grounds. Judging will be done by Thane Earle and Bart Pals.

They have use of a nice building with lots of space that allows them to have a single decked show. There is easy access off Interstate 43 near the shores of Lake Michigan with lots of interesting attractions to visit.

I hope to see a lot of Orpingtons there.

Dear Warren,

Jan 4, 1994

I am going to follow my own advice and arrange for some UOC meets in Pennsylvania this year. What about states without a State Rep? Does the District Director then assign meets in a State in his district? (I have told others the answer to this is yes. WT)

My first chicks hatched on New Years Day. A Standard Partridge Rock Pullet hatched 5 of 6 Standard BB Red Modern Game eggs she was on. I have six more hens on eggs at present. I always use setting hens when possible, and thus far have not turned on the incubator.

Robert, There should be at least 10 birds shown at least 2 exhibitors to get a UOC certificate & to meet Warren

I will enter 55 birds in the Pennsylvania Farm Show this week. Five of them are beautiful Standard Black Orpingtons in prime show condition. One of the cockerels is the best Black Orpington I've ever had. We'll see what happens.

Best regards, S Robert Powell

Hi, Dues Enclosed

Jan 7, 1994

The wind is blowing & it is snowing. The heater stayed on in the Who's Who Coop, so it was 50 above in there and some what colder in the other two. They say -15° tonight, we've had a nice winter so far.

I've got 5 nice Buff Orp chicks, been hatching Wheaton Americanas & Silvers, have 4 Cochins & 5 Japanese all doing well.

We are having a small show at the Winter Fair in Bozeman, MT on Jan 29. Keep us posted on your Spring Show we may be able to come.

Gotta go, chicks are peeping!

Hello Warren,

Feb. 2, 1994

Things are looking up now. My Large Orps went through a molt late and are now laying pretty regular again. I am getting 5 or 6 eggs a day from 7 hens. Hopefully the hens will be in shape for the Mason City Show. I don't think I will be showing any large males as they decided to have a disagreement and got ruffed up some. They had never been separated since they left the brooder and never fought until now. Must be all the ladies to fight over.

Our Bantams are laying well with usually 2 eggs a day from 3 hens. next year I hope to use 6 to 8 hens. Good Luck and take care. Jeff Butler

Robert;

I read in the CPAC Newsletter about the discussion you had about females crowing. Several years ago I had a pullet that crowed so I did some investigating.

Usually a male will flap it's wings prior to crowing. By flapping it's wings it "pumps" oxygen into the lungs giving the bird enough air to actually crow. The way I understand it is that the male and female chicken have the same "throat" or air way. The only difference is that the male has the hormones to give him the urge to crow. Sometimes a female chicken will have a slight hormone imbalance and will have the urge to crow and having the same type of airway can actually crow.

In regards to the P.Press article entitled "Henny Feathers and Diet." I found this quite interesting. I've been feeding 16% feeder pig mix for 15 years. My father raised feeder pigs and somehow we got started feeding the birds the same feed. They did so well we simply stayed with it. We actually start the chicks out with the same feed. Our birds have always been good layers, finish out great and seem to do very well.

We've never had a problem with the males turning "hen feathered." I'm sure it's possible but we've never had any trouble.

I thought that you may find these thoughts interesting.

~~That~~ That's a great newsletter you put out.

Yours,
Bert

Mr. Jerry Sliker
Show Superintendent
Sussex County Spring Show, April 23-24, 1994
154 Route 560
Layton, NJ 07851

Dear Jerry:

I am preparing to become a licensed APA judge and was admitted to the APA's Apprentice Program for an APA Specialty License (Large Fowl and Bantam Chickens) on October 27, 1993.

As you know, apprentices have to work under eight different APA judges who hold a license which corresponds to the one the apprentice is seeking.

That being the case, I would like to have the opportunity to clerk for the judge who does the bantam chickens at the Sussex show on April 23/24. I will not enter any bantams in the show, just for the record.

I will, however, enter about 15 large fowl in the show, and would love to clerk for the judge who does the large fowl, but will not do so because I don't want to give anyone any grounds for saying or suggesting that the clerk influenced the judge's decisions.

If you have already made arrangements for someone to clerk for the bantam judge at your show, rest assured I will understand your position. But if you have not yet done so, I would like to be considered for the assignment.

It's been a long time since I have been to a poultry show, and I am anxiously awaiting the Sussex show.

Sincerely yours,

Robert

Dear Briget:

I knew that I had read the name of Lawrence Baker recently. It is a "Letter to the Editor" in the April issue of POULTRY PRESS (p. 13).

I hope Lawrence Baker leaves his gun at home when he comes to Bloomsburg!

Since everyone in the fancy is now so "thief conscious," it may just turn out that anyone who might consider taking someone else's bird(s) would be too scared/intimidated to make a move these days.

See you soon.

Sincerely,

S. Robert

ALL-Orp

The Official publication of

UNITED ORPINGTON CLUB

Devoted to all Orpingtons, Standard and Bantam, and to the Breeder of this fine fowl.

APRIL 1994

FROM THE SECRETARY

I just shut off my incubator. I will start it again in a month or so. I have hatched over 140 chicks and culled at least 40 of them. I didn't keep any of the splash white or blacks from the blue matings. I used a dark blue male in the blue pen and the older chicks seem to have better lacing than last years hatch.

I made so many mistakes on the membership and breed list that I should do it over, but it takes too much space so I will just have a list of corrections in another part of this issue.

We have some good news and some bad news as far as membership is concerned. The good news is we have 15 new members since the January ALL-ORP was published. The bad news is we have 28 members that have let their dues lapse. Some of them are our officers, district directors and state representatives. The club can not continue if the dues are not paid.

We had a good time at The National in Roseville. I didn't win any thing but BB in the Orp Bantams and Res Orp over all. John Monaco had a White Hen that won Best Orp, Champ English and Res Large Fowl. She looked just like the picture in the Standard and she would show every time some one came around her. I felt good to have my Buff Pullet being considered for SOCL. It got down to a White Leghorn Pullet, a Black Tailed White Jap, my Buff Orp Pullet, and a White Rock Ckl. The Leghorn was best the Jap reserve, and the Orp and Rock left out. To have an Orp Bantam even considered in a class of over 400 at a national meet was a step forward.

I have heard rumors that the Postal Service is going to put more pressure on to have folks start using their 9 digit zip codes. For those of you that know what yours is, it may save us a problem if we started using them.

The APA has awarded their National Meet for 1994 to Columbus Ohio on Nov 12 & 13. I haven't talked to any one about it but I am reasonably sure that our UOC national will be held in conjunction with this show. The last time we had our national at Columbus we had an exceptional turn out of over 70 Standard Orps. The turn out for Bantams was rather sparse. I would challenge you folks to hatch some birds especially for this show and lets see if we can exceed the numbers and quality of the 1993 show. It will be a tough accomplishment but it can be done.

I want to thank these folks for renewing their membership. Unfortunately there are more than this that should have renewed and didn't. I thought I was doing a better job than that as secretary treasurer and publishing this news letter. If they don't renew they will be dropped from membership after this issue of the ALL-ORP.

J. B. Harrell is judging a show in Alabama this weekend and I am going to ride over with him just for company, provided I don't get sick.

I will give the first State Meet for our club to the South Arkansas Poultry Club. I will provide the awards at my expense. The other meet can go to the Fort Smith Show if they want it.

Respectfully Yours, Joe L Templeton

Dear Warren,

Jan 6, 1994

Enclosed is $5.00 for my 1994 dues. My breeding problem goes up and down. Last year my hens weren't laying. got my first chicks June 15, 1993. Four of my pullets are laying real good. I had two cock birds, one went down on his legs and I had to destroy him. The other is old and shaky with no fertility. It looks like I will wait until my cockerels mature. I am getting a real life experience in being patient.

Will not be able to attend the APA National, I have to work. I would like to attend but will have to await the reports on the show.

Keep up the good work, best with your Orps. I'll see you at the shows.
Tom Durgin

Dear Warren,

January 8, 1994

We received our first copy of the Orpington News Letter yesterday. We really enjoyed it. It was a treat for Rachel to read her name mentioning her Cal National win. It was fun to be up there with all those well known breeders.

I am now the secretary of the Japanese Bantam Breeders Assn. I would like with your permission, to use the incubation article by Everette Bird that you ran in the January issue.

Why don't you give Rachel 2 yrs membership and keep the rest. One dollar a year doesn't even cover the cost of mailing the News Letter.

See you at Roseville.

Pat Rubin

Dear Warren,

Feb 26, 1994

Enclosed are my dues. Sorry to be late but this goes along with my disorientation from working the third shift. No chicks as yet, it's been so cold that I am not getting enough eggs to make a setting worth while. I hatched chicks late in 93 that I can show a pullets and cockerels in the early shows. So I am in no hurry any way. Take care, Ken

Wisconsin State Meet

By Ken Lawniczak

The Wisconsin State Meet of the United Orpington Club will be hosted by the Manitowoc Poultry Club this year. Their show is the Northeastern Wisconsin Poultry Show. It will be Sat. June 11, 1994 at the Manitowoc County Expo Grounds. Judging will be done by Thane Earle and Bart Pals.

They have use of a nice building with lots of space that allows them to have a single decked show. There is easy access off Interstate 43 near the shores of Lake Michigan with lots of interesting attractions to visit.

I hope to see a lot of Orpingtons there.

Dear Warren,

Jan 4, 1994

I am going to follow my own advice and arrange for some UOC meets in Pennsylvania this year. What about states without a State Rep? Does the District Director then assign meets in a State in his district? (I have told others the answer to this is yes. WT)

My first chicks hatched on New Years Day. A Standard Partridge Rock Pullet hatched 5 of 6 Standard BB Red Modern Game eggs she was on. I have six more hens on eggs at present. I always use setting hens when possible, and thus far have not turned on the incubator.

Robert, There should be at least 10 birds shown at least 2 exhibitors to get 2 UOC certificate & to meet Warren 2689

I will enter 55 birds in the Pennsylvania Farm Show this week. Five of them are beautiful Standard Black Orpingtons in prime show condition. One of the cockerels is the best Black Orpington I've ever had. We'll see what happens.

Best regards, S Robert Powell

Hi, Dues Enclosed

Jan 7, 1994

The wind is blowing & it is snowing. The heater stayed on in the Who's Who Coop, so it was 50 above in there and some what colder in the other two. They say -15° tonight, we've had a nice winter so far.

I've got 5 nice Buff Orp chicks, been hatching Wheaton Americanas & Silvers, have 4 Cochins & 5 Japanese all doing well.

We are having a small show at the Winter Fair in Bozeman, MT on Jan 29. Keep us posted on your Spring Show we may be able to come.

Gotta go, chicks are peeping!

Dear Warren,

Jan. 13, 1994

I have heard the News Letter and Membership list are out and I didn't get one. Also the listing for type is wrong. I raise Large Black and Large White Orps. I live at Ponca City, OK not Poner.

I had Grand Champion Large Fowl at both the Garfield and Kingfisher Co shows with Black Cockerels. We also had Champ English at the Oklahoma State Show. Thanks, Larry Dye Rt #1 Box 610 Ponca City, OK 74601

Dear Mr Warren Tye,

Dear Mr Tye,

Jan. 9, 1994

Enclosed is my check for membership in the Orpington Club. I am looking forward to meeting you in Roseville later this month. Thank you for the names of the Orpington Folks. I will get in touch with them today.

Hello Warren,

Feb. 2, 1994

Things are looking up now. My Large Orps went through a molt late and are now laying pretty regular again. I am getting 5 or 6 eggs a day from 7 hens. Hopefully the hens will be in shape for the Mason City Show. I don't think I will be showing any large males as they decided to have a disagreement and got ruffed up some. They had never been separated since they left the brooder and never fought until now. Must be all the ladies to fight over.

Our Bantams are laying well with usually 2 eggs a day from 3 hens. next year I hope to use 6 to 8 hens. Good Luck and take care. Jeff Butler

WALTER SILAS POWELL

Powell, Walter Silas, Carbondale RD, died April 20 in Forest City Nursing Center following an illness. His widow is the former Helen L. Russell. They celebrated their 57th anniversary on April 10.

Born January 12, 1913 on Ridge St., Scranton, son of Welsh parents, the late Silas and Olivia Reese Powell, he attended the Berean Baptist Church, Carbondale. He was a 1930 graduate of Olyphant High School and attended the Wharton School of Finance, Scranton. Upon moving to the Carbondale area, he was the operator of the Russell Dairy Farm, Carbondale RD. He was the former owner of Lakeland Golf Course, Lake Sheridan, and prior to retirement, he was the owner of the Homestead Golf Course, Carbondale.

Also surviving are twin sons, Donald W. and S. Robert, both of Carbondale RD; four grandchildren; two nieces and a nephew.

He was preceded in death by three sons, Walter William, James Russell and Russell Thomas, and three sisters, Ruth Swain, Lillian Clarke and Frances.

In Loving Memory of

WALTER S. POWELL

1913 — 1994

The Lord is my shepherd; I shall not want.

He maketh me to lie down in green pastures; he leadeth me beside the still waters.

He restoreth my soul; He leadeth me in the path of righteousness for his name's sake.

Yea, though I walk through the valley of the shadow of death, I will fear no evil; for thou art with me; thy rod and thy staff they comfort me.

Thou preparest a table before me in the presence of mine enemies; thou anointest my head with oil; my cup runneth over.

Surely goodness and mercy shall follow me all the days of my life; and I will dwell in the house of the Lord forever.

Walter Silas Powell, Carbondale RD, died Wednesday in Forest City Nursing Center following an illness. His widow is the former Helen L. Russell. They celebrated their 57th anniversary on April 10.

Born Jan. 12, 1913, on Ridge Street, Scranton, son of the late Silas and Olivia Reese Powell, he attended the Berean Baptist Church, Carbondale.

He was a 1930 graduate of Olyphant High School and attended the Wharton School of Finance, Scranton. Upon moving to the Carbondale area, he was the operator of the Russell Dairy Farm, Carbondale RD. He was the former owner of Lakeland Golf Course, Lake Sheridan, and prior to retirement, he was the owner of the Homestead Golf Course, Carbondale.

Also surviving are twin sons, Donald W. and S. Robert, both of Carbondale RD; four grandchildren; two nieces; a nephew.

He was preceded in death by three sons, Walter William, James Russell and Russell Thomas, and three sisters, Ruth Swain, Lillian Clarke and Frances.

The funeral will be Monday with services at 10 a.m. in the Oliver R. Shifer Funeral Home, 94 N. Main St., Carbondale, by the Rev. Dale E. Pepper, pastor, Berean Baptist Church. Interment, Valley View Memorial Park, Montdale.

The family will receive friends Sunday, 2 to 4 and 7 to 9 p.m.

During the service in the Oliver R. Shifler funeral home in Carbondale, before Dad's burial in Valley View Cemetery (Montdale, PA), SRP read two works:

1. "Do not go gentle into that good night" by Dylan Thomas (1914-1953)
2. The portion of John Donne's 17th Meditation (DEVOTIONS UPON EMERGENT OCCASIONS) which begins: "...Who casts not up his Eye to the Sunne when it rises?..." and ends: "...It tolls for thee."

During the burial service in Valley View Cemetery, SRP read two works:

1. "A Psalm of Life" by Henry Wadsworth Longfellow (1807-1882)
2. "I Wandered Lonely as a Cloud" by William Wordsworth (1770-1850)

Dylan Thomas (Welsh. 1914-1953)

Do not go gentle into that good night

Do not go gentle into that good night,
Old age should burn and rave at close of day;
Rage, rage against the dying of the light.

Though wise men at their end know dark is right,
Because their words had forked no lightning they
Do not go gentle into that good night. 5

Good men, the last wave by, crying how bright
Their frail deeds might have danced in a green bay,
Rage, rage against the dying of the light.

Wild men who caught and sang the sun in flight,
And learn, too late, they grieved it on its way,
Do not go gentle into that good night. 10

Grave men, near death, who see with blinding sight
Blind eyes could blaze like meteors and be gay,
Rage, rage against the dying of the light. 15

And you, my father, there on the sad height,
Curse, bless, me now with your fierce tears, I pray.
Do not go gentle into that good night.
Rage, rage against the dying of the light.

This poem is written in an elaborate French form, the villanelle, that is, five tercets (stanzas of three lines each, the first and third lines rhyming) and a final quatrain (stanza of four lines, the first, third, and fourth lines all rhyming with the first and third lines of the tercets, and the second line rhyming with the middle lines of the tercets). Moreover, the first line of the poem is the last line of the second and fourth tercets; the third line of the poem is the last line of the third and fifth tercets, and these two lines reappear yet again as a pair of rhyming lines at the end of the poem.

XVII. MEDITATION

PERCEANCE hee for whom this Bell tolls, may be so ill, as that he knows not it tolls for him; And perchance I may thinke my selfe so much better than I am, as that they who are about mee, and see my state, may have caused it to toll for mee, and I know not that. The Church is Catholike, universal, so are all her Actions; All that she does, belongs to all. When she baptizes a child, that action concerns mee; for that child is thereby connected to that Heal which is my Heal too, and engraffed into that body, whercof I am a member. And when she buries a Man, that action concerns me: All munkinde is of one Author, and is one volume; when one Man dies, one Chapter is not torne out of the booke, but translated into a better language; and every Chapter must be so translated; God employes several translators; some peeces are translated by age, some by sickness, some by warre, some by justice; but Gods hand is in every translation; and his hand shall binde up all our scattered leaves againe, for that Librarie where every booke shall be open to one another: As therefore the Bell that rings to a Sermon, calls not upon the Preacher onely, but upon the Congregation to come; so this Bell calls us all; but how much more mee, who am brought so neere the doore by this sickness. There was a contention as farr as a suite, (in which both pietie and dignitie, religion, and estimation, were mingled) which of the religious Orders should ring to prayers first in the Morning; and it was determined, that they should ring first that rose earliest. If we understand aright the dignitie of this Bell that tolls for our evening prayer, wee would bee glad to make it ours, by rising early, in that application, that it might bee ours, as well as his, whose indeed it is. The Bell doth toll for him that thinks it doth; and though it intermit againe, yet from that minute that that occasion wrought upon him, hee is united to God. Who casts not up his Eye to the Steeple when it rises? but who takes off his Eye from a Comet when that breaks out? Who bends not his eare to any Bell, which upon any occasion rings? but who can remove it from that Bell, which is passing a pece of himselfe out of this world? No man is an Island, intire of it selfe; every man is a pece of the Continent, a part of the maine; if a Clod bee washed away by the Sea, Europe is the lesse, as well as if a Promontorie were, as well as if a Manner of thy friends or of thine owne were; any mans death diminishes me, because I am involved in Mankinde; And therefore never send to know for whom the Bell tolls; It tolls for thee. Neither can we call this a begging of Miserie or a borrowing of Miserie, as though we were not miserable enough of our selves, but must fetch in more from the next house, in taking upon us the Miserie of our Neighbours. Truly it were an excusable coquettesse if wee did; for affliction is a treasure, and scarce any man hath enough of it. No man hath affliction enough that is not matured, and ripened by it, and made fit for God by that affliction. If a man carry treasure in bullion, or in a wedg of gold, and have none coined into current Monies, his treasure will not defray him as he travells. Tribulation is Treasure in the nature of it, but it is not current money in the use of it, except wee get nearer and nearer our home, Heaven, by it. Another man may be sicke too, and sick to death, and this affliction may lie in his bowels, as gold in a Mine, and be of no use to him: but this Bell, that tells me of his affliction, digs out, and applies that gold to mee; if by this consideration of anothers danger, I take mine owne into contemplation, and so secure my selfe, by making my recourse to my God, who is our onely securitie.

A PSALM OF LIFE

WHAT THE HEART OF THE YOUNG MAN SAID TO THE PSALMIST

TELL me not, in mournful numbers,

Life is but an empty dream!—

For the soul is dead that slumbers,

And things are not what they seem.

Life is real! Life is earnest!

And the grave is not its goal;

Dust thou art, to dust returnest,

Was not spoken of the soul.

Not enjoyment, and not sorrow,

Is our destined end or way;

But to act, that each to-morrow

Find us farther than to-day.

Art is long, and Time is fleeting,

And our hearts, though stout and brave.

Still, like muffled drums, are beating

Funeral marches to the grave.

In the world's broad field of battle,

In the bivouac of Life,

Be not like dumb, driven cattle!

Be a hero in the strife!

Trust no Future, howe'er pleasant!

Let the dead Past bury its dead!

Act,—act in the living Present!

Heart within, and God o'erhead!

Lives of great men all remind us

We can make our lives sublime,

And, departing, leave behind us

Footprints on the sands of time;

Footprints, that perhaps another,

Sailing o'er life's solemn main,

A forlorn and shipwrecked brother,

Seeing, shall take heart again.

Let us, then, be up and doing,

With a heart for any fate;

Still achieving, still pursuing,

Learn to labor and to wait.

Henry Wadsworth Longfellow, [1807-1882]

William Wordsworth (English. 1770-1850)

I Wandered Lonely as a Cloud

I wandered lonely as a cloud
That floats on high o'er vales and hills,
When all at once I saw a crowd,
A host, of golden daffodils,
Beside the lake, beneath the trees,
Fluttering and dancing in the breeze.

Continuous as the stars that shine
And twinkle on the milky way,
They stretched in never-ending line
Along the margin of a bay;
Ten thousand saw I at a glance,
Tossing their heads in sprightly dance.

The waves beside them danced, but they Outdid the sparkling waves in glee;
A poet could not but be gay,
In such a jocund company;
I gazed — and gazed — but little thought
What wealth the show to me had brought:

For oft, when on my couch I lie
In vacant or in pensive mood,
They flash upon that inward eye
Which is the bliss of solitude;
And then my heart with pleasure fills,
And dances with the daffodils.

Telephone calls to express sympathy/condoleances:

1. Susan Stephens phoned from Dallas, PA to express her condolences. (4/30/94)
2. Gordon and Joan Wilson phoned from Western Pennsylvania on Saturday evening.
3. Bill Weinstein telephoned, 4/30/94.

At the funeral home:

Larry Schroeder and his wife were very understanding.

Matthew Mroczka (Box 412, R. D. 2, Jermyn) came to the funeral home: he used to be a member of the Historical Society.

Florence Perry and John Moon offered to provide a car for the funeral if necessary.

Some dates:

1. At 5 P.M. on February 7, 1994, when I returned from Penn State, Mom and Dad were waiting for me. They had concluded that Dad should go to the hospital. Something was wrong. We three went to Mid-Valley Hospital in my truck.
2. February 8: 9 P.M., phone call here from Mid-Valley. Dad in convulsions. Rushed to CMC in the midst of a major winter storm. Mom, Donald and I were not able to get out of the yard because of the snow.

10:30 P.M.--brain surgery by Dr. Holla. Dad had had a stroke. 1:00 A.M., Dad OK after the surgery.
3. February 9-14: Intensive Care unit at CMC; on the 14th he was taken to Room 856 CMC. Remained at CMC until March 24th. On the 24th, at 5:20 P.M. he said, when I entered his room to get Mom to bring her home: "There's my son." At 6 P.M., when Mom and I arrived home, there was a robin in the top of the spruce tree by the garage. Mom said: "Hello and welcome. My that sounds good!"
4. February 25, 1994: Dad taken to Forest City Nursing Home, where he remained until his death at 11:05 P.M. on the 20th of April. By an odd coincidence, it was on the 20th of April in 1983 that SRP returned to Pennsylvania from New York, where he had lived for over a decade.

Dear Helen, Bob and Donald:

I was saddened to learn, on Saturday, of Walter's death.

He extended himself toward my on many one occasion, most notably after I was in the hospital in Haverdale.

Please accept my most sincere sympathy.

MILES KIMBALL
41 West Eighth Avenue
Oshkosh, WI 54906

Dear Miles Kimball:

I received my order for 1000 labels (item #622019) today, and, to my dismay, the labels are INCORRECTLY printed.

I have enclosed a xerox copy of my original order, dated 03-17 1994. As you will note, my street address is:

RD # 1, Box 40

In this instance, RD does not represent an abbreviation for the word "road," as the printed labels you sent suggest. Rather, the "RD" in my address stands for "Rural Delivery."

Please re-do this order. In re-doing the order, please print the labels exactly as follows:

S. Robert Powell
R. D. #1, Box 40
Carbondale, PA 18407-9706

Thank you very much.

A sample of the incorrectly printed labels that you sent is given hereafter.

What shall I do with the incorrectly printed labels? Shall I return them to you?

Sincerely,

S. Robert Powell

Dear Robert,

I am sorry to have to inform you Ralph died, Tuesday, the 12th of April and his funeral was 2 weeks ago at this very time.

I have tried to call you but the operator says no phone under your name.

I have sent the obituary in to Bill Wolff at the Press so that it ^{will} be in the May issue that comes out the last of May.

Now if you would like to add something to it

OBITUARIES

RALPH C. MOREY

Mr. Ralph C. Morey, 80 years of 11 Spinner Court, Sherburne, passed away Tuesday, April 12, 1994 at the M.I. Bassett Hospital, Cooperstown, NY, following a long illness.

Ralph was born April 20, 1913 in Sherburne, the son of Glenn and Mabel Coakley Morey. He was a life resident of Sherburne. He married the former Lillian Sage on October 6, 1942 in Montrose, PA. During World War II he served as a cook on trains transporting wounded soldiers stateside. He had worked for L.L. Richer, as lumber company manager for several years. He was a carpenter for the N.Y.S. Department of Conservation in Sherburne for 23 years, retiring in 1983.

Mr. Morey was a breeder of exhibition chickens all his life. He was an American Poultry Association judge at many fairs. He is to be honored by the N.Y.S. Finger Lakes Feather Club at their show for his contributions to the Fancy Chickens and particularly his work with Old English Game Club of America.

He was a member of the First United Methodist Church of Sherburne; F&AM Lodge 444, Sherburne, since 1945; the American Poultry Assoc., the Sherburne Poultry Club; and a member of the Eastern New York State Poultry Association at Cobleskill, where he served as president for many years. He was honored last year by the club for his many years of service to the organization. He was also a member of the AARP.

Surviving are his wife, Lillian of Sherburne; three sons, LeRoy Morey of Pinellas Park, Fla., Dale Morey of Sherburne and Lynn Morey of Oneida; from a previous marriage; two daughters, Kathleen Rulan of Woodstock and Christine Wright of Sherburne; one brother, Robert Morey of Sherburne; two sisters, Ruby Priest of Sherburne and Ruth Coyne of Clearwater, FLA; seven grandchildren and several nieces and nephews.

Memorial services were held Saturday, April 16 at the Burgess Funeral Home, Earlville, with Rev. Kenneth Barnes, pastor of the United Methodist Church of Oxford, officiating.

Friends called at the funeral home on Friday from 7 to 9 pm. A Masonic Service was held Friday at 8:00 pm.

Contributions may be made in his memory to the United Methodist Church, Sherburne or to the Sherburne Emergency Squad.

Sunset and evening star,
And one clear call for me!
And may there be no moaning of the bar,

RE: Position of Assistant to the Dean

Dear Sir or Madam:

I would like to be considered for the position of Assistant to the Dean at the University of Scranton. A copy of my resume is enclosed. On page three thereof are the names and telephone numbers of five persons who will be pleased to support my candidacy for the position of Assistant to the Dean.

The administrative, pedagogical and community-service experience that I have had will, I believe, serve me well if I am given the opportunity to serve as Assistant to the Dean.

During the academic year 1990-1991, I served as a Visiting Assistant Professor of French in the Department of Modern Languages at Susquehanna University. Together with Dr. Jack Kolbert, the Chair of the Department of Modern Languages there, I was directly involved in the many activities of the Department of Modern Languages. In addition, I taught three courses in French language and literature. Professor Kolbert will, I'm sure, be pleased to speak not only on the strength of my commitment to and enthusiasm for undergraduate education but also on my personal qualities and on the quality of my teaching.

In the fall of 1991, I accepted an appointment as an adjunct member of the faculty at Penn State (Worthington Scranton campus) to teach the Humanities. This is the position that I currently hold. To have been given the opportunity to teach courses in the Humanities, which I have long wanted to do, has had an extraordinary tonic-like effect on my critical thinking. At the same time, it presents exciting new challenges to familiar pedagogical problems because I am, as it were, teaching outside of my field of specialization, which is French language and literature.

I look forward to hearing from you in regard to the position of Assistant to the Dean at the University of Scranton.

Sincerely,

S. Robert Powell, Ph.D.

RE: Position as Editor

Dear Sir or Madam:

I would like to be considered for the position of Editor at ICS Learning Systems, as advertized in the May 22, 1994 edition of The Scranton Times. A copy of my resume is enclosed.

As you will note from my resume, I have the academic credentials to do the job. In addition, I believe that I have an excellent command of the English language, as well as an ability to meet deadlines and work closely with various members of a production team. For six years, I served as an editor in New York for American Management Associations and Harcourt Brace Jovanovich. For three years, 1979-1982, I was the editor of NORTHEASTERN PENNSYLVANIA, an historical quarterly that was created and published by my brother and me. Although I am not, by any means, a computer expert, I am computer literate.

If I am given the opportunity to serve as an editor at ICS Learning Systems, I would expect to be paid a salary commensurate with the responsibilities and obligations of the position.

At the present time, I am a member of the adjunct faculty in the College of Liberal Arts at the Worthington Scranton campus of Penn State.

I look forward to hearing from you.

Sincerely,

S. Robert Powell

MEETS

By S. Robert Powell

"Meets" are a regular feature of virtually all poultry shows. What are they? When and where do they take place? How are they set up? How do they benefit all concerned?

Throughout the year, poultry breed clubs (e.g., The Old English Game Bantam Club of America) and poultry organizations with a broader focus (e.g., the American Poultry Association, the American Bantam Association, the International Waterfowl Breeders' Association) hold show meetings or "meets" at poultry shows that are organized and sponsored by poultry clubs (e.g., the Central Pennsylvania Avian Club) around the country.

The APA and the ABA sanction show meetings of their organizations at most all shows sponsored by poultry clubs. Many local, county, and state fairs, in addition, also host meets by the APA and the ABA. Those meets are of several kinds: APA (club, state, district, semi-annual, annual), ABA (special, state, district, semi-annual, annual).

Special, club, state and district meets of those organizations are awarded to poultry clubs by the state, district or regional representatives of the APA and/or the ABA. The semi-annual and annual meets of the APA and the ABA are awarded to poultry clubs by the Boards of Directors of those organizations at their semi-annual or annual business meetings or conventions.

A poultry club that hosts a meet of the APA and/or ABA must fulfill specific requirements established by the APA and the ABA for a poultry show: establish particular classes, hire licensed judges, etc. If your poultry club holds shows and your club does not host meets of the APA and the ABA, contact the APA and the ABA and find out about hosting meets of those organizations at your next show.

The benefits to your club of hosting meets by the APA and the ABA are many. The most important are: (1) that your show will probably attract more exhibitors, (2) that the size of your show will increase, and (3) that the quality of birds exhibited will be higher than previously.

Meets by breed clubs that take place in conjunction with poultry club shows are of many kinds. The most usual are: special, state, district, regional and national. But there are other kinds of meets as well that are sponsored by breed clubs. The Single Comb Black Minorca Club also sponsors an "international" meet. The Crested Fowl Fanciers' Association also sponsors "pin," "pen," and "ribbon" meets. The Old English Game Bantam Club of America also sponsors "Game Challenge" meets. The American Silkie Club and the Faverolle Fanciers of America Club both also sponsor "breed" meets.

The specific nature of breed club meets and the requirements for those meets are determined by the breed club in question. A breed club might, for example, stipulate that there must be 20 birds exhibited by two or more exhibitors who are members of that breed club in order for the meet to qualify and the awards to be given out; or a breed club might stipulate that its awards are open to all, regardless of club membership.

Breed clubs have to hold meets (show meetings) if they are to remain vital as organizations and the easiest and best way for a breed club to hold a meet is to do so at a poultry club's show, although there are breed clubs that hold their own shows, independent of any poultry club.

How does a breed club arrange to hold a meet at a particular poultry club's show? In some cases, the secretary or a member of the breed club requests permission from a poultry club to hold a meet at that poultry club's show. In other instances, the secretary of a member of a poultry club contacts a breed club and requests that the breed club hold a meet at that poultry club's show. The state or district directors of many breed clubs award meets to the shows in their state or district.

If you need to find out the name and address of a particular state or district director of a given breed club, contact the secretary of the breed club. Their names and addresses can be found in POULTRY PRESS or the yearbooks of the APA and the ABA.

Poultry clubs, of course, like to host meets at their shows, and the reason is obvious: lots of meets frequently means a large and successful show with good competition. Many poultry clubs encourage breed clubs to hold meets at their shows by putting up specials specifically for them. The York County Poultry Fanciers' Association, for example, offers a breed club that holds its national (annual) meet at the York Show the following: a trophy for champion and a trophy for reserve champion, as well as a 25-cent rebate for every bird shown in the breed club's meet. The breed clubs need the poultry clubs and the poultry need the breed clubs. It's a mutually beneficial relationship.

How does a breed club arrange to hold a meet at a poultry club's show? Let's say, for example, that the United Orpington Club wishes to hold a meet at the annual fall show of the Eastern New York State Poultry Fanciers' Association. A representative of the UOC contacts the ENYSPFA and asks to hold a meet at the upcoming show.

When permission is granted, the UOC announces the meet to its members and encourages them to show birds at the ENYSPFA show. The ENYSPFA announces the meet to its members and encourages its members who raise Orpingtons to show them at the club show. The ENYSPFA announces to the poultry fancy as a whole, by means of ads and articles in the poultry periodicals, that a meet by the UOC will take place at its upcoming show and encourages any breeder of Orpingtons to show them at the upcoming ENYSPFA show. It's as simple as that.

The Orpingtons shown by UOC members as well as those shown by all other exhibitors are cooped in the appropriate class (English for the standards; SCCL for the bantams) and judged by the judges employed by the ENYSPFA to judge the show. All of the Orpingtons exhibited are, of course, eligible to win all awards and specials put up by the ENYSPFA and others for Orpingtons in the open show. The Orpingtons shown by UOC members are, in addition, eligible for the awards put up by the UOC. (In some instances, as we mentioned above, one need not be a member of a particular breed club to win awards put up by that breed club but, in most cases, you must be a member of a particular breed club to win awards put up by that breed club).

A successful breed club meet can have many positive consequences for the breed club that has sponsored the meet. It can serve as a stimulus to fanciers to raise and show the breed in question. A successful breed club meet can also result in new members for the breed club, which can mean better competition and better birds in the future.

If you are a member of a breed club and are interested in promoting the breed in question, encourage your club to establish a regular schedule of meets at poultry shows around the country. If you are a member of a poultry club and are interested in strengthening your club and stimulating its growth, encourage your club's officers to solicit meets from a broad range of breed clubs at your next club show.

Meets are beneficial to all concerned: the breed club that holds the meet, the exhibitors who show in the meet, the poultry club that hosts the meet, and the exhibition poultry fancy as a whole.

Dear Robert;

On behalf of President Joab L. Thomas, with the concurrence of Dr. Susan Welch, Dean of the College of Liberal Arts and Dr. Robert E. Dunham, Senior Vice-President and Dean of the Commonwealth Educational System, I am pleased to offer you a position as a Part-Time Lecturer for Summer Session I - 1994, assuming sufficient enrollment. Listed below are the specifications of this appointment beginning May 23, 1994 and ending July 20, 1994.

Course: HUMAN 001-801 M,W,R: 9:00-10:35 AM

Salary: $1077.00

Enclosed are two copies of a Memorandum of Personal Service. Please sign one and return to Dr. K. Bruce Sherbine, Director of Academic Affairs, as soon as possible to facilitate payment: you may keep the other copy for your records.

Federal regulations require U.S. employers to have a completed I-9 on file verifying an individual's identity and eligibility for U.S. employment. You will need to present documentation substantiating your identity and employment eligibility by completion of the I-9 form. If you have not completed this form, please contact the Academic Affairs Office at 963-4757.

If you have not been employed by the University in the past, it is also necessary for you to sign the University Patent Agreement, Form A, and complete the Affirmative Action Card and Biographical Data Form.

I look forward to welcoming you to the faculty and hope that your association with Penn State will be mutually satisfying and productive.

Sincerely,

James D. Gallagher

$250,000 toward $2.3 million

Grant funds awarded for restoring City Hall

By Tom Fontana

"Keep the Dream Alive" could be the slogan of the City of Carbondale concerning its intention of starting the restoration of its historic City Hall. The dream got a major boost last week when a grant of $450,000 awarded to the Lackawanna Heritage Valley Authority included $250,000 for work on City Hall.

"I've been trying to find a way to get City Hall restored since I took Conservation Fund known as the Key 93 program, and $150,000 from a Community Development Block Grant.

City Manager James Burke said that council's recent approval of a $2 million bond issue could be influential in securing the other grants for the restoration of City Hall. "It doesn't hurt in the approval process when the city can show a commitment to a project like this," he stated. "There's

"I've been trying to find a way to get City Hall restored...It's been a dream of mine for seven years."

Mayor John E. Moran

office," commented an elated Mayor John E. Moran. "It's been a dream of mine for seven years and most people I've talked to want to see it done."

The city has applied for four grants that could be used for restoring the building, a project estimated to cost $2.3 million. In addition to the LHVA grant, city officials are also hoping to receive $1 million in funding under the Intermodal Surface Transportation Enhancement Act through the Pennsylvania Department of Transportation, $100,000 from the Keystone Recreation, Park, and $750,000 for restoring City Hall in the bond issue, and in my experience the thing that pushes you over the top in getting grant approvals is the amount of commitment in the community."

The Carbondale Center plan of the Lackawanna Heritage Valley Authority is based on using City Hall and Memorial Park as a centerpiece. The restoration of City Hall could be the first step toward implementing the plan. Burke said if the other funding sought is received within the next month, work on the city building could start this fall.

Humanities 001: Sections 2 & 3: Dr. S. R. Powell
Penn State University (WS), Spring 1994

Hour Exam III

- A. Complete the "basic facts" grid on the attached sheet about the seven books that we have read in this course this semester.
- B. Essays: Answer all of the essay questions given below.
1. Outline the principal philosophical tenets of Existentialism as defined by Jean-Paul Sartre.
 2. Give a brief biographical sketch of the three principal characters in Sartre's NO EXIT. Illustrate how, for each of those three characters, "hell is other people."
 3. Among the many issues that are the focus of a great deal of attention in the United States at the present time are: abortion, gay rights, gun control, mercy killing, and the death penalty. Select one of those issues and present at least two of the primary schools of thought on that issue. Does one of those schools of thought seem to make more sense than any other? Why?
 4. Consider the student body as a whole at the Penn State campus (Worthington Scranton) at the present time. Identify ten beliefs of the student body that give the Penn State students at Worthington Scranton a recognizable profile. A possible belief might be: Students at the Worthington Scranton campus of Penn State believe that premarital sex is permissible. Write your answer to this question on the attached sheet at the top of which this question appears.

Dear Briget,

Here is my entry for the CPAC show.

Just in case I was not clear in saying what I wanted to say about the United Orpington Club special meet:

The $10 that I have put up is for Best Orpington Large Fowl and Best Orpington Bantam. The $10 is from the United Orpington Club and will be awarded only to U.O.C members.

It was a good meeting today, and I am all "fired up" for the show.

See you there.

Sincerely,

SRP

RE: Position of Assistant to the Dean

Dear Sir or Madam:

I would like to be considered for the position of Assistant to the Dean at the University of Scranton. A copy of my resume is enclosed. On page three thereof are the names and telephone numbers of five persons who will be pleased to support my candidacy for the position of Assistant to the Dean.

The administrative, pedagogical and community-service experience that I have had will, I believe, serve me well if I am given the opportunity to serve as Assistant to the Dean.

During the academic year 1990-1991, I served as a Visiting Assistant Professor of French in the Department of Modern Languages at Susquehanna University. Together with Dr. Jack Kolbert, the Chair of the Department of Modern Languages there, I was directly involved in the many activities of the Department of Modern Languages. In addition, I taught three courses in French language and literature. Professor Kolbert will, I'm sure, be pleased to speak not only on the strength of my commitment to and enthusiasm for undergraduate education but also on my personal qualities and on the quality of my teaching.

In the fall of 1991, I accepted an appointment as an adjunct member of the faculty at Penn State (Worthington Scranton campus) to teach the Humanities. This is the position that I currently hold. To have been given the opportunity to teach courses in the Humanities, which I have long wanted to do, has had an extraordinary tonic-like effect on my critical thinking. At the same time, it presents exciting new challenges to familiar pedagogical problems because I am, as it were, teaching outside of my field of specialization, which is French language and literature.

I look forward to hearing from you in regard to the position of Assistant to the Dean at the University of Scranton.

Sincerely,

S. Robert Powell, Ph.D.

CENTRAL PENNSYLVANIA AVIAN CLUB

NEWSLETTER

MAY 1994

Editor: S. ROBERT POWELL

PH. 717-282-5197
R.D. 1, BOX 40
CARBONDALE, PA 18407

FROM THE PRESIDENT

The 17th annual CPAC auction and show went well and the club has good reason to be proud of the important role that it plays in the exhibition avian hobby in the commonwealth of Pennsylvania. A complete report on the auction and show will be presented in the June 1994 CPAC NEWSLETTER.

Sincere thanks to all who helped in any to make these annual events, sponsored by the club, the successes they were: those who contributed money and/or food for the food stand, those who worked in the food stand, those who served as runners during the auction, those who clerked for the judges during the show, those who ran the books at the auction, those who helped set up for the auction and show, those who helped clean up after the auction and show, those who sold raffle tickets, those who donated items for and who helped out during the Chinese auction, those who put up specials for the show. (Have I forgotten to mention any one? I hope not, but if I have, just let me know and I will be more than pleased to publicly say thank you.)

Four people not specifically thanked in the preceding paragraph, but who merit SPECIAL thanks from all of us (because we would not have had an auction and show without their generosity and support) are: BRIGET KANE, who did a thousand and one things to guarantee the success of both events, including serving as Show Superintendent; REV. ROLAND ROMIG, who served as auctioneer at the auction; WALLY CASAZZA, who, in the six months before the auction and show as well as during both events, did countless things to make the auction and show a reality; PAUL SLUSSER, who, as Poultry Superintendent of the Bloomsburg Fair, makes it possible for the CPAC to use the poultry building on the Bloomsburg Fairgrounds for CPAC events.

COMMUNICATION MIX UP

Some people thought the clean-up after the auction and show was on May 14th (they showed up and couldn't do anything because the building was locked); others thought it was May 21 (the correct date); still others didn't know when the clean up was to take place. To make a long story very short, four members worked very hard on May 21 and accomplished a lot. They are: Leon Keeler, Wally Casazza, Craig Russell, and Carl Harris. The job will be completed on Saturday, June 4th, beginning at 10 A.M.

000PS!

In the January 1994 issue of the CPAC NEWSLETTER (p. 3) and in the full-page ad, sponsored by the CPAC, that will appear in the 1994 APA YEARBOOK, we incorrectly listed the name of club members Fred and Shirley Fike of Mechanicsburg, PA. Somehow, instead of typing "Mr. and Mrs. Fred Fike," I typed "Mr. and Mrs. Mike Fike." My apologies to Fred and Shirley Fike for the mistake.

Just for the record, here is the correct name and address:

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Fike
31 Texaco Road
Mechanicsburg, PA 17055.

FROM STEVE SPIGELMEYER

On April 30, 1994, club member, Steve Spigelmeyer (R. D. 3, Box 320, Middleburg, PA 17842) wrote to the Editor as follows:

"I just wanted to write and tell you about my incubator trouble that I had. Craig Russell told me it would be something to talk about. So here we go about what happened. I have an incubator that holds about 400 eggs, and it was full. One time the temperature was too high. The next time it was too low. The high was around 112 and the low was about 90. Craig and I could not figure it out. But I kept one thing in mind, and that was to call Craig, so he came down to my place, and we thought it was the wafer, so I changed it, and it still did the same thing. Then I went and got a micro switch and Craig and I put that in, and that was my trouble (the micro switch) so I got the temperature back up where it belongs, but I had a very bad hatch come out. I only hatched 20 eggs out of 88 of them. That was only one tray, the rest of the trays are still yet to come, two more..."

Sincerely,

Steve Spigelmeyer

MORE ON CROWING AND HEN FEATHERING

On page 7 of the April 1994 CPAC NEWSLETTER, there is a discussion of female chickens that crow and of hen feathering in male chickens. When APA Vice President Bart Pals (1119 East State Street, Mason City, IA 50401) read that discussion, he wrote the following letter to Robert Powell:

Robert:

I read in the CPAC NEWSLETTER about the discussion you had about females crowing. Several years ago I had a pullet that crowed, so I did some investigating.

Usually a male will flap its wings prior to crowing. By flapping its wings, it "pumps" oxygen into the lungs, giving the bird enough air to actually crow. The way I understand it is that the male and female chicken have the same "throat" or airway. The only difference is that the male has the hormones to give him the urge to crow. Sometimes a female chicken will have a slight hormone imbalance and will have the urge to crow and, having the same type of airway, can actually crow.

In regards to the POULTRY PRESS article entitled "Henny Feathers and Diet," I found that quite interesting. I've been feeding 16% feeder pig mix for 15 years. My father raised feeder pigs and somehow we got started feeding the birds the same feed. They did so well we simply stayed with it. We actually start the chicks out with the same feed. Our birds have always been good layers, finish out great, and seem to do very well.

We've never had a problem with the males turning "hen feathered." I'm sure it's possible, but we've never had any trouble.

I thought that you might find these thoughts interesting.

That's a great newsletter you put out.

Yours,

Bart

CPAC MEETING

The CPAC met on April 10, 1994 at the Bloomsburg Fairgrounds. Present were the following: Briget Kane, Craig Russell, Tom Richardson, Mark Whitebread, Tom Kane, Carl Harris, Dale, Brenda, Daniel, and Jonathan Martin, Harold Strawser, Wally Casazza and Robert Powell.

Following the work session, in which the building was set up for the auction and show and shavings were put in the cages, a business meeting was held. Craig Russell opened the meeting by announcing that Mr. and Mrs. Mike Kell became the parents of a daughter on Friday, April 8th. Craig then thanked all present for their help in setting up for the auction and show. He reported that more coffee and ice cream buckets are needed for the Chinese auction at the show; also that we need more donations for the auction table at the show.

The show hall will open on Friday at noon before the auction and Craig will be present all Friday afternoon. Craig thanked Wally Casazza for the good job that he has done in getting the club's ads put together and into POULTRY PRESS. He also complimented Robert Powell on the obituary of former club member, Cecil E. Rose, that Robert wrote and which was published in POULTRY PRESS for April 1994. Craig also thanked Flossie and Tom Mitchell and Briget and Tom Kane for their very nice donations to the CPAC for the auction.

Show Secretary, Briget Kane, and Wally Casazza reported on the impressive list of meets that are scheduled for our show. Wally reported that we have $685 in cash awards for this year's show. Briget reported that the APA Best of Breed ribbons will be hung directly on the show cages. It was remarked by several members that the CPAC's "Champion Row" is among the most impressive in the Northeast and has served as a model for more than one club.

A discussion took place of the very nice facilities that the CPAC has available for its auctions and shows, thanks to the thoughtfulness and generosity of Paul Slusser and the officials of the Bloomsburg Fair. It was remarked that Bloomsburg is thought by some poultry fanciers to be too far to travel to a show. Briget Kane made the point that we are not really that far from Reading, York, Frederick, for example. Exhibitors who show at those shows on a regular basis could be encouraged to drive just a little farther and show at Bloomsburg.

Wally reported that he had asked Mrs. Clarke if the club might put up a display in the Clarke parking lot to advertize the club's show and said that Mrs. Clarke was not receptive to the idea. Briget Kane said that the club should put together a photo collage (club show photos and the like) and hang it on the wall in the poultry building at Bloomsburg so that all fair-goers who pass through the poultry building would be aware of the club and its shows. The idea was well received by the members present. Craig reported that Wally Casazza is in the poultry building a great deal throughout the Fair and serves the club and the fancy well as spokesman for the exhibition poultry fancy for the many fair-goers who make inquiries about exhibition poultry during the week of the Bloomsburg Fair. Robert said that he would get together some membership materials and CPAC NEWSLETTERS that could be handed out to interested persons during the week of the Fair. Mark Whitebread said that he had had a good response from the CPAC show materials that he had hung on a bulletin board in a local feed store. Mark gave to the club a 4' X 8' sheet of plywood, to be used for a sign at the entrance to the Fairgrounds before the CPAC auction and show. Craig thanked Mark for the plywood and said that the sign would be painted and up before the show and auction.

Wally Casazza gave the Treasurer's Report for April 10, 1994 as follows: checking account, $624.24; petty cash, $169.41; total, $793.65.

Briget reported that Judy Sanderlain (the Secretary/Treasurer of the Virginia club) would be present at the CPAC show and that she (Judy) would handle the Chinese Auction for us.

A general discussion of ways to attract exhibitors took place. Tom Kane reported that at the Berks Show at Reading this year that free coffee and donuts were given away in the morning to all exhibitors and their families and that everyone liked that a great deal.

Robert Powell said that he would take lots of photographs at the club's auction and show.

With no further business to conduct, the meeting was adjourned.

Respectfully submitted,

S. Robert Powell

DOMESTIC AND EXHIBITION TURKEYS

By Craig T. Russell

Part III

(Part I of this article was published in the March 1994 CPAC NEWSLETTER, pp. 2-4; Part II in the April 1994 issue, pp. 3-6)

The Bourbon Red which was developed from the Buff by selection is certainly a U.S. product. Development started in Pennsylvania with the selection of Jersey Buffs for deeper color. The result was called Tuscarora Red, sometimes spelled Tusawara Red. Settlers heading West took them to Kentucky and southern Ohio where they were also called Kentucky Reds and Bourbon Butternuts. Except for required white flight feathers, the Bourbon Red pattern is just a darker, richer version of the buff pattern. Claims that the Bourbon Red was discovered in the wild are without merit.

The buff-red complex, like the bronze pattern, has some associated non-standard varieties.

These include the fawn, which is a browner or tan version of buff. Such birds are mentioned in very old works and are a probable source for the development of the buff. Also, such birds can appear from poorly controlled buff matings.

The Clay, also called Claybank, is fawn selected in yet another direction. Its color is similar to, but browner than, the gray in a Narragansett. This turkey is rather rare today but was formerly common in the South.

The Chocolate is a much darker fawn or clay. Like the related Clay, this bird is now rare, but mostly found in the southern U.S. It was formerly common in France.

The final standard variety is the Royal Palm. This little turkey is about the same weight as a Beltsville, but has a lighter build and larger frame. Standard weights are: old tom, 22 pounds; young tom, 16 pounds; old hen, 12 pounds; young hen, 10 pounds. This is the only turkey not heavily selected for meat production. It was developed along ornamental lines. However, if you have a small family or a small place, it may well be the turkey for you. Palms can be high-strung, but are thrifty and can fend for themselves. Only the black and white variety has ever been established but crossing with other varieties has produced individuals of the Royal Palm pattern, but with red, slate or brown replacing the normal black. These varieties and other varieties could be produced. With the exception of black backs with some white edging and the larger comparative size of surface feathers, which give a fish scale appearance, the Royal Palm has the same basic pattern as the Narragansett, only white replaces gray. While this is usually a small turkey, some strains are nearly as large as the medium standard varieties like the Narragansett and the Bourbon Red. This may be due to the inclusion or conversion of silver Narragansetts. Just as Narragansetts produce silver sports, Royal Palms produce gray sports, which seems to argue for a close relationship of the two varieties.

Another related type is the spotted Nebraskan, sometimes called Nebraska Royales, which is also white and black; however, the pattern is less defined and black is scattered throughout the plumage. Now rare, some of these may also have been bred toward the Royal Palm pattern.

Another related type is the new turkey. I've read and heard of it. It reverses the Royal Palm pattern and must be quite rare. I've never seen it.

A more common, but still rare, related type is the Royal Nebraska, which roughly reverses the pattern of the Nebraska Royal. These birds are very much like the original Norfolk Blacks, but have more of a charcoal gray ground color.

Some other non-standard types worth mentioning include the Lilac, which is blue or slate with light maroon or red barring. This is one of the most popular non-standard varieties and could well make it into the standard in the future. It is the same size as the medium-sized standard group, such as the Black and the Slate.

A non-standard variety that should be in the standard now is, of course, the wild. Why it has not been treated like the Canada goose and the Mallard is hard to explain. The various races vary slightly in color and in size. Most are about the size of Royal Palms or smaller but some very large specimens occur. They can be practical homestead fowl. This is also true of the smaller ocellated turkey, which is best adapted to warmer climates. While wild turkeys bolt when disturbed, they tame easily but are more susceptible to blackhead and some other illnesses than most domestics. Generally speaking, the northern races are larger than the southern. In some states, special permits are required to keep or sell wild turkeys. In the past, wild turkeys were widely used for crossing, and at least one attempt was made to develop a commercial "wild type." The Nittany was developed at Pennsylvania State College through selection from the native wild turkey. This is another commercial type that never made it into the standard. Some of these still exist in the hands of fanciers. They are slightly smaller than Beltsvilles and fall between standards and true broad-breasted turkeys in type. While the Nittany's commercial niche has been usurped by modern broad-breasted Whites, it could be an excellent home-use bird.

I should also mention Greys or Grays. This term is often used for Slates or Narragansetts, but in the past it more properly applied to a turkey with patterned, not solid, plumage of varying shades of clear gray. These were the dominant variety in Ireland and were common in England and Italy, but some were found in the U.S. during the last century. I saw one in Holland in 1972.

Other grays, like the Oregon Gray, are less integrated blends of white and Black.

Finally comes the Copper. Once common in Cambridgeshire, England, this bird is mentioned by old timers here in the U.S. This bird was, or is, probably a redder or less bronze version of the dark brown, but the term is also used for reds on occasion.

Other turkey varieties that you might hear about include: Spotted, Cinnamon, Lavender, Nutmeg, Crimson, and Chestnut. While I'm not sure of all these, they are, to the best of my knowledge, other names for, or variations of, varieties already mentioned.

While I have tried to be a complete as possible, this article focuses only on types found in the U.S. and Canada. I have used what I believe are the most generally accepted names in the non-standard varieties. Not everyone would agree with my choices, but I tried to cover the rival names also.

For instance, some experts consider the Light Brown, Auburn and Silver Auburn as synonymous, but the birds I've seen convince me that we are dealing with two similar but different varieties. Even those who agree with me might not agree with my choice of names. I've seen the Auburn applied to both types, but believe it most properly applies to Light Browns.

Care of turkeys has been widely discussed and there is little need for me to add to it. However, the old types will thrive under conditions that broad-breasted strains would find hard to tolerate.

While letting turkeys run with other poultry, especially chickens, is always a risk, without overcrowding and when care is taken to avoid damp, unsanitary conditions, the old types will do well on free range or in grass runs.

Artificial incubation and rearing will give greater production and often a lower mortality. But, I like to see poults running with their mothers; and natural production takes less labor than any other method. If you have the room, young turkeys with their mothers can grow up on greens, insects, wild seeds and fruits.

Under confinement, one tom can handle ten to 12 hens; on free range, half that many is about right.

Consider some real turkeys on your place.

PIGEON GROUPS FUND AI STUDY

The American Racing Pigeon Union and the International Federation of Pigeon Flyers provided $30,000 and a number of pigeons for a research project. The study was done at the National Veterinary Services Laboratory in Ames, Iowa. In the project, pigeons were exposed and many injected with H5N2 and H7 virus. However, the pigeons did not sero-convert, but chickens inoculated with the same virus died in five hours. The preliminary information from the study seems to confirm earlier convictions that pigeons are not a threat with regard to H5N2 avian influenza.

(The preceding article was published in POULTRY POST, a publication of the Pennsylvania Poultry Federation, 500 North Progress Avenue, Harrisburg, PA 17109. 717-652-7530. This article was made available for publication in the CPAC NEWSLETTER by club member, Dave Bailey.)

CPAC MEMBERS WHO WON AT THE SUSSEX SHOW

Four of the birds on Champions' Row at the April 23-24, 1994 show of the Sussex County Poultry Fanciers' Association, in Augusta, NJ, were shown by Central Pennsylvania Avian Club members:

CHAMPION MODERN GAME BANTAM: a Birchen hen, shown by Kane's Feathered Friends

CHAMPION AMERICAN AT THE BUFFALO SHOW

At the annual show of the Buffalo & Western New York Poultry Association, Inc., at the Erie County Fairgrounds in Hamburg, NY, on May 15, 1994, CPAC member, S. Robert Powell had CHAMPION AMERICAN on a Partridge Plymouth Rock hen.

The judges for the show were Paul Monteith and Rick Porr.

It would be hard to imagine a more perfect building for a poultry show than the one on the Erie County Fairgrounds in which this year's show was held: cages were all single tiered, superb lighting, extra-wide aisles, plenty of room for everything.

From the Editor:

Thanks to Steve Spigelmeyer, Bart Pals, Craig Russell, Dave Bailey, Wally Casazza and the Japanese Bantam Breeders' Association for contributing information for publication herein.

There is, as you have probably already determined, very little in this NEWSLETTER about the CPAC auction and show that were held on April 30/May 1, 1994. The reason for that is that it takes a little time to sort through and organize the follow-up papers associated with any such event. The dust has all more or less settled, and the June NEWSLETTER will have lots of information about the recent club auction/show.

The communication mix-up (see p. 1) in regard to the clean-up following the auction/show is unfortunate and regrettable. At this point, the only thing to do is to put the communication mix-up behind us and to focus on completing the job that was begun on May 21st by Leon Keeler, Wally Casazza, Craig Russell and Carl Harris. THE CLEAN UP OF THE POULTRY BUILDING ON THE BLOOMSBURG FAIRGROUNDS WILL BE COMPLETED ON SATURDAY, JUNE 4, BEGINNING AT 10 A.M. If you can be there, your help will be greatly appreciated by the club. A post-card reminder about the clean-up was mailed to all members on Tuesday, May 31st.

I don't know about the rest of you, but I always find it very difficult to stop hatching chicks. I think I have just about convinced myself to stop setting eggs as of June 1st. We'll see what happens.

From Ovum to Egg in 24 Hours

We all worry about feeding our stock properly to ensure good production of fertile, hatchable eggs, but how many understand the inner workings of how that egg is formed as it travels the 25 inches through the hen's reproductive system?

The specifics of that journey is one that my Avian Bowl team must know inside and out. Dr. Francine Bradley, Avian Science specialist at the University of California, Davis, is adamant that the 4-H members know just how the egg is formed. This knowledge has been a real help to us. Somehow it seems to help just knowing how that egg came to be. You no longer take that egg for granted when you know the details of its travels and how much calcium the hen expended to make it. You become more careful in handling that egg.

So for all you adults who don't know an infundibulum from an isthmus, who don't know where in the oviduct fertilization takes place, and who don't know how many minute ova are present when the chick hatches--here it is!!

The female reproductive system is divided into two main parts: the ovary and the oviduct. The ovary is a cluster of developing yolks, or ova, and is located midway between the neck and tail, attached along the back to the spine and adjacent rib bones. The ovary is fully formed although very small when the female chick is hatched. It is made up of 13,000 to 14,000 minute yolks.

Ovulation is the release of the mature yolk from the ovary into the second part of the reproductive system: the oviduct. This is a long convoluted tube 25 to 27 inches long. The first part is the infundibulum, or funnel. It catches the released ovum. The ovum remains here for 15 minutes. Here is where fertilization takes place. Next is the magnum which is 13 inches long and the largest section. The yolk stays here 3 hours and the thick albumen is added. Third stop is the isthmus which is 4 inches long. The "egg" stays 75 minutes. Shell membranes are added. Then comes the shell gland which is 4 to 5 inches long, and here the egg stays 20 hours. The shell is manufactured of calcium carbonate. The hen uses 47% of her body calcium from her bones and diet to make the egg shell. Pigment is also added in the shell gland. The last part, the vagina, really doesn't play any part in formation. It helps push the egg out of the hen's body. About 30 to 75 minutes after the egg is laid, another ovum is released, and the whole process begins again.

RE: Position as Editor

Dear Sir or Madam:

I would like to be considered for the position of Editor at ICS Learning Systems, as advertized in the May 22, 1994 edition of The Scranton Times. A copy of my resume is enclosed.

As you will note from my resume, I have the academic credentials to do the job. In addition, I believe that I have an excellent command of the English language, as well as an ability to meet deadlines and work closely with various members of a production team. For six years, I served as an editor in New York for American Management Associations and Harcourt Brace Jovanovich. For three years, 1979-1982, I was the editor of NORTHEASTERN PENNSYLVANIA, an historical quarterly that was created and published by my brother and me. Although I am not, by any means, a computer expert, I am computer literate.

If I am given the opportunity to serve as an editor at ICS Learning Systems, I would expect to be paid a salary commensurate with the responsibilities and obligations of the position.

At the present time, I am a member of the adjunct faculty in the College of Liberal Arts at the Worthington Scranton campus of Penn State.

I look forward to hearing from you.

Sincerely,

S. Robert Powell

Carbondale project proposals due June 17

By Bob Tomaine
UPVALLEY BUREAU CHIEF

CARBONDALE — City officials will open architectural and engineering proposals for the City Hall restoration project later this month.

"This will result in getting the bid documents ready so the project can be done," said city Community Development Director Nancy Perri. "They'll take the feasibility study that was done and do some additional research of the building themselves, and come up with a schematic design of what to do."

"They'll meet with us to determine if we're in agreement, and also the Pennsylvania Historical and Museum Commission and the Carbondale Historical Society will have to review it as the building is on the National Register of Historic Places."

Proposals are due June 17 and will be reviewed by a selection committee, made up of Ms. Perri, Mayor John Moran, City Manager Jim Burke, and others such as representatives of the Lackawanna Heritage Valley Authority, City Council, and the Carbondale Historical Society.

The project is due to be completed next summer, and Ms. Perri said it will result in some rearranging of office space within the building to place all city offices on the second floor.

"It's a very involved project," Burke said. "We're still a few weeks away from receiving the money from the bond issue, but we want to move quickly on the RFP phase so we'll be ready when the money does come in."

A dual project

The Carbondale Public Library plans to build a new facility next to City Hall, and Moran said he hopes to see the projects under way at the same time.

The estimated cost of City Hall's restoration, based on updated figures in a 1989 feasibility study by Groenendaal & Jones, is about $2 to $2.5 million, compared to $2.175,000 to $3 million for demolition. The financial package is made up of $750,000 from a $2 million bond issue, as well as about $1.5 million in grants for which the city has already applied.

One of those grants, for $250,000, has been approved, and Ms. Perri said the city will also apply for a $150,000 Housing and Community Development Grant toward the handicapped-accessibility component of the project later this month.

She said the design work will proceed on the assumption that all of the monies will be available, although the actual construction bidding will be handled as funding allows.

"After discussions we've had with others who've done similar projects," she said, "we decided to use a construction manager. He'll be put on contract before the actual bid documents are done."

"He'll be involved in the preparation of what the work will entail. It should save a lot of money."

Starting as quickly as possible on City Hall's exterior, Moran said, will help to protect the interior from further damage while reducing heating costs. He said a number of the building's problems will probably become critical if not addressed soon.

"We would've liked to have had the project done this year," Ms. Perri said, "since it's the centennial of the front portion of the building, but at least we're getting started."

The second century

"The building does need to be done. It's gone 100 years without any major rehabilitation and very few dollars put into the building, and unfortunately, you can't let a building go forever without investing in it. One way or another, something has to be done."

"Except for the work the historical society did on the roof and on the third floor," Moran said, "nothing's really been done to the building except a little paneling here and there."

FROM THE PRESIDENT

Thanks to all CPAC members and friends who helped in any way to make the club's Spring auction and show an enjoyable and successful weekend. Special thanks to all who showed birds and congratulations to those whose birds made it all the way to Champions' Row. The general consensus of opinion is that there were very high quality birds throughout all classes in the show, which is excellent for the fancy.

The CPAC successfully participated in the Lewisburg Fair, June 6-12. Steve Spigelmeier, Wally Casazza, Leon Keeler and I showed poultry; Harold Strawser showed sheep and goats. A pot-bellied pig that I donated was raffled off and earned $94.50 for the club; the Fair paid us $150 for the club exhibit, which was very popular with the fair-goers and which resulted in many positive comments about the CPAC.

Long-time club member, Cyril Menges, died on Tuesday, June 7, at the age of 87. As most of you know, Cyril Menges was one of the leading breeders and exhibitors of Guinea Fowl in America.

The CPAC's annual summer picnic/outing will take place this year on July 24th, at the Montour Preserve (just outside of Bloomsburg), from noon to 7 P.M. It will be held in Goose Cove Pavilion No. 3. Everyone is to bring a covered dish and table service. The club will provide hot dogs and burgers and (probably) sausage. A map and specific instructions on how to get to the Montour Preserve will be in the July NEWSLETTER. Make plans now to attend.

Craig Russell

FROM THE EDITOR

Poultry shows are about birds, but they are ALSO ABOUT PEOPLE. Thirteen photographs, mostly of people, that I took at recent club events appear in this issue of the NEWSLETTER.

Show Superintendent, BRIGET KANE (right), doing the paperwork for the CPAC auction that was held on April 30th, the day before the 1994 Spring show. Briget and her husband, Tom, are well known exhibitors of Modern Game bantams.

The Central Pennsylvania Avian Club was established in 1974 to promote all species of exhibition poultry, pigeons, game and cage birds. The Spring show and auction are held the first weekend in May; the Fall auction is held the Saturday following the Bloomsburg Fair.

CPAC Spring Show entry total: 637 birds.

2761

WALLY CASAZZA (shown here) and Carl Harris (see photo on p. 5) are the Co-Secretary/Treasurer of the CPAC. Among the breeds that Wally raises and shows are standard Dominiques and Japanese bantams. At this year's Spring show, Wally had Reserve Champion American on a Dominique cock.

Note the CPAC hat that Wally wears in this photograph. These hats are available to members at $5.00 per hat; if the hat is to be mailed out, an additional charge of $2.00 for mailing envelope and postage is necessary. Wally's address is: R. R. 9, Box 140, Bloomsburg, PA 17815.

One of the best features of any poultry show is the opportunity to visit with friends--and to make new friends. Shown here are BEVERLY ROMIG, BESS RYNEARSON, and WILMA SMITH as they enjoy the friendly atmosphere and good fellowship that are hallmarks of all CPAC shows and events.

TOM KANE (left) judging a class of bantams at this year's Spring Show on May 1st in the poultry building on the Bloomsburg Fairgrounds. He is assisted here by MARK WHITEBREAD, clerk.

Three American Poultry Association and/or American Bantam Association judges were hired to judge this year's CPAC show: Tom Kane (Keyser, WV), Dr. Charles J. Wabeck (Salisbury, MD), and Curtis Oakes (Cochran, PA).

People who raise and show exhibition poultry are friendly and interesting people. Shown here, enjoying themselves at this year's CPAC Spring Show, are: LEON KEELER, DIXIE RANCK, CARL HARRIS, and ROBERT SAINT AMOUR.

TOM RICHARDSON, left, and MARK WHITEBREAD at the April 10, 1994 meeting of the CAPC. Tom raises Black Turkeys. Mark raises many breeds and varieties of exhibition poultry, including standard Rose Comb Rhode Island Reds, Bronze Turkeys and Pomeranian Geese; he is also interested in and raises large psittacines, including Macaws.

Craig Russell (06-20-94): "Special thanks to Tom Richardson, Mark Whitebread, Leon Keeler, Carl Harris, Wally Casazza and Robert Powell for their help in cleaning the show hall following this year's auction/show. Mark, Wally and I finished up the job on June 13th."

Two familiar faces at poultry shows in Pennsylvania and New Jersey are those of BASIL SMITH (right) and his nephew's son, JEREMY HOCH. Basil raises and shows many breeds and varieties of poultry, including Leghorns, White Sultans, B. B. Red Malays, and Polish. At this year's CPAC show, a White Leghorn hen shown by Basil was named Reserve Champion Mediterranean.

Membership in the Central Pennsylvania Avian Club is open to all, whether or not you raise and show birds or are a resident of Pennsylvania. Individual membership, $7; junior, $5; family, $10.

REV. ROLAND ROMIG, auctioneer, had a busy day on Saturday, April 30, selling the hundreds of birds that were sold at the CPAC auction. The profit realized by the club from the auction helps to defray the expenses of the annual show. Some of the expenses incurred by the club for this year's Spring show are as follows: trophies, $545; printing and mailing, $325; fees for judges, $450; club prize money, $435.

REV. ROMIG (Gillett, PA) is a well known exhibitor of poultry in Pennsylvania and New York. At the 1994 Pennsylvania Farm Show, Rev. Romig exhibited 11 class champions and had 56 of his entries named best of breed. A standard Single Comb Ancona pullet that Rev. Romig showed was named Grand Champion Standard of the Show.

A group of buyers at the 1994 CPAC auction on April 30th. Shown in this photograph, second from the right and wearing a white CPAC hat, is Central Pennsylvania Avian Club president, CRAIG RUSSELL. Craig is a master of keeping track of and recording the highest bid on each bird or poultry item sold and of making sure that the bidding number of the highest bidder is marked on the coop card or tag of every bird or poultry item sold.

The food stand is always a busy place at CPAC events. Shown here are BETTY HARRIS and HAROLD STRAWSER, whose dedication and hard work at the food stand resulted in $230.85 income for the club at the Spring 1994 auction/show. Others who helped out in the food stand this year are Wally Casazza and Matt Potter.

ANDY KALIE, now a student at Penn State University, is a well known breeder and exhibitor of Golden and Silver Sebrights. He can always be relied on to serve as a "runner" at the CPAC auctions. In this photograph, Andy is shown watching the auctioneer, Rev. Roland Romig, at the annual Spring auction.

Dear Kevin:

It does not appear that I am going to be able to supply you with some standard Black Orpington eggs or chicks this year.

Whatever the problem is, I still have it. If I am lucky, I think that I will have about a dozen chicks, which is a deplorable average, given the number of eggs that I have set in the past couple months. I have had very good luck with all of my other birds this year, both in regard to fertility and hatchability. But not the standard Black Orpingtons!

The problem appears to be the males. They are about 14 months old, so they should be old enough to fertilize the eggs, but they seem to have very little or no interest in the pullets/hens.

I appreciate your interest in getting eggs and/or chicks from me. If I had some available, I would be more than happy to provide you with some.

Best regards,

Robert

June 12, 1994

Dear John;

The Barred Rock Bantam rooster card is wonderful. Surely you get the prize for the most interesting poultry cards. I must not frequent the right card shops. The Barred Rock card will, I'm sure, be displayed in my poultry trophy case.

Thank you for returning my check. I will convert it into "specials" for next year's FLFC show.

It pained me not to be able to attend this year's FLFC show. I especially wanted to be there to help honor Lillian and Ralph Morey, and my original plan was to drive up with Mary Rose as my passenger. I never got around to asking Mary if she wanted to go up for the day. Had I done so, I'm sure that I would have made it up for the show, in spite of the difficulties that ultimately prevented me from attending.

What, you might wonder, prevented me from attending? In a word: life got too complicated and exhausting. All day on June 4th, I helped clean out the poultry building at Bloomsburg (180 miles round trip for me). I got up very early on the 4th so that I could do my poultry chores here and then drive the 90 miles to Bloomsburg. I did so. Left Bloomsburg at about 5 P.M. Returned home by 7 P.M. Went to work (Garden Center at nearby Wal-Mart, where I have a part-time job: if only I were rich!). Worked until 1 A.M. Got home at 1:30 and was not able to get it together to clean up my birds for Syracuse and pack them up and try to get an hour or so of sleep. Decided that it was beyond my physical endurance to get the birds ready and then drive the three or so hours to Syracuse.

I'm sure that the day at Syracuse was very pleasant. How I wanted to be there! I'd be interested to know who won the $5.00 special that I put up for Best Standard pullet in the show, in memory of Cecil Rose. Was it you that telephoned me on the evening of June 5th? I was again at Wal-Mart (where the general public abuses and insults the staff as a matter of policy and where the management of the company treats everyone as if they were brain dead) and my Mother said that a nice guy called from New York state, wondering why I was not at the show in Syracuse. It must have been you. If not, maybe Bill Ehlers. I appreciate the call. Very thoughtful on your part (or Bill's part). Thank you. I am anxious to know more about the show. What I should probably do is just telephone you and get more details.

You may have noticed that a likeness of someone appears at the top of this page. That's the official photograph of me that appears in the Harford Fair premium list. I am co-superintendent, alas, of the Poultry Department there. It's possible, of course, that you would not recognize me in a cleaned-up mode, given the fact that you have most often seen me in my poultry costume.

I am getting some wonderful hatches in recent weeks and will have lots of first-class young birds for the winter and spring shows. You will be amused to know that at the Central Pennsylvania Avian Club show on May 1st, that I had Grand Champion of the Show on a Pearl Guinea Fowl cock (judges were Curtis Oakés, Charles Wabeck, and Tom Kane). When was the last time that a Guinea Fowl was Grand Champion of the Show?

Best regards,

J Robert

Application for Insurance

US LIFE CREDIT LIFE Insurance Company

(Called We)

Schaumburg, Illinois 60173

NOTE: Only one Debtor may apply for Single Life coverage. The Debtor choosing Single Life coverage must complete questions 1 and 2. The Debtors may choose Joint Life coverage. If Joint Life coverage is requested, both Debtors must answer questions 1 and 2. Only one Debtor may apply for Disability coverage. All questions must be answered by the Debtor requesting Disability coverage.

I am indebted to the above named Creditor for the above sum and for the security of payment of said debt. I hereby apply for credit insurance covering the amount of said debt as indicated above.

I represent that the answers on this application are true and complete to the best of my knowledge and belief. They are the basis on which insurance requested by me may be issued. Evidence of insurability satisfactory to the Company means that I have truthfully answered the questions. Untruthful answers may result in denial of claims.

Murray McMurray Hatchery
Webster City, IA 50595-0458

Dear Murray McMurray:

Enclosed is a check for $20.00.

Please send me twenty dollars worth of your 1994 poultry catalogue.

I need about 50 copies for distribution to potential poultry breeders/exhibitors who pass through the poultry buildings of the three county fairs that I am involved with. If I could get more than 50 copies for my $20, that would be great.

Thank you very much.

Sincerely,

Robert Powell

Dear Nona:

I know that you are busy and that this is a very busy time of year, but time is running out and this is my third request to you for about 100 copies of the APA/ABA brochure, AN INTRODUCTION TO PUREBRED POULTRY.

There are three county fairs that I am involved with here in northeastern Pennsylvania, and the APA/ABA brochure would be a very nice item to be able to hand to prospective breeders/exhibitors who pass through the poultry buildings at these fairs.

If there is a charge for these brochures or if I am supposed to pay the postage, please let me know.

Thank you.

Sincerely,

S. Robert Powell

Dear Phyllis,

I apologize for not helping to judge at the Harford Fair on Monday, August 22nd. Some how I marked my calendar for Tuesday not Monday. I usually check the Premium List the week before the show but this time my scheudle was real busy and I waited untill Monday after work for a Tuesday judging job and that was wrong.

I called George Shroeder that night to see if I made a mistake on that Monday and he told me he finished them that day. I apologized to him like I am to you.

Sorry for any inconvenient to you and/or the fair. Hope to help another year.

Sincerely,

Elton Minnich
